SNOWDEN MAPS PLAN TO MEET HUGE DEFICIT

Announces Desperate Measures to Combat Financial Crisis

FOR SLASH IN DOLE

Income Tax Boost and Cut in Wages Part of Cabinet Program

London—(P)—Great Britain has devised a scheme to balance her accounts in what is probably one of the most desperate financial crisis in the nation's history, Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons this afternoon as he introduced his emergency budget.

He spoke for an hour. Leaning on his two canes, he outlined the devices by which he proposes to overcome a deficit of approximately $850,000,000 in next year's budget and an estimated deficit of more than $370,000,000 this year.

When he sat down the Conservatives, the Liberals and a handful of the Labor members raised a great cheer, but on the other side of the house the bulk of the Labor members booed the man who is one of those chiefly responsible for the creation and growth of their party.

He had struck out as few treasury chiefs have dared to do.

He faced the hostile Labor benches, crowded with his former colleagues, and announced measures which meant a 10 per cent cut in the dole. He announced that the income tax would be boosted up to 5 shillings a pound, which amounts to 25 per cent of the net income of every citizen who pays the tax.

He told them the duty on beer would be increased 1 penny a pint, effective tomorrow, and that the customs duty on imported leaf tobacco would go up 8 pence a pound. The gasoline duty is to be increased 2 pence a gallon.

Police men's wages will be cut on a sliding scale running upward from 5 shillings ($1.25) a week, and school teachers' salaries will be reduced by 15 per cent.

Analyses Plan

These and other measures were listed in a government white paper distributed during Mr. Snowden's speech.

Analyzing his proposal, the chancellor said that against this year's estimated deficit of $373,395,000 his new measures provided for economies of $110,000,000, savings on debt redemption of $88,500,000, new taxation and inland revenue $145,000,000, customs and excise $57,000,000, leaving an estimated surplus of $7,500,000.

As for next year, against an estimated deficit of $850,000,000 would be set economies of $350,000,000, debt savings of $100,000,000, new taxation and inland revenue $237,500,000, customs and excise $120,000,000, leaving an estimated surplus of $7,500,000.

Major savings for the year 1932-33 disclosed in the white paper are:

Reductions in the salaries of civil servants, from cabinet ministers down, $22,670,000.

In the defense services (in addition to pay and pension cuts of $13,070,000) $25,000,000.

Education $51,500,000.

Unemployment insurance (A) reduction of expenditure $129,000,000; (B) increase of contributions $50,000,000.

Read funds $39,325,000.

These and other economies bring the total for the year to a little over $350,000,000.

CLEAR SAILING AHEAD, WILSON ASSURES DRYS

Noted Methodist Leader Says Both Parties Will Avoid Prohibition Argument

Neither Democrats nor Republicans will have "wet" planks in their platforms for the 1932 presidential campaign, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church told some 200 ministers and laymen at First Methodist church here last night.

Dr. Wilson's address was part of the program for the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of Methodist churches in session here this week.

Dr. Wilson delivered his stinging attack on the wets following an introduction by the Rev. G. K. McInnis of Evansville who declared that Wisconsin dries brought about the defeat of Walter J. Kohler for governor at the last election. He blamed Kohler's defeat to "his poor judgment" in making a wet speech in Milwaukee, while LaFollette had "the good sense" to keep quiet about a question on which he could not take the "right" stand in an overwhelmingly wet state.

Dr. Wilson said the dry cause had clear sailing for the next two years because both of the major political parties in this country will ignore the prohibition question in the coming campaign.

He said that prohibition was on the books to stay forever. He said that if Governor Roosevelt of New York becomes the Democratic nominee that he would have sense enough to keep any personal views he might have on the wet and dry question, to himself.

Ready to Fight

"But if the need should arise, we are ready to fight for our cause to the bitter end," the doctor said. "Prohibition is here to stay."

Dr. Wilson pictured a happy future when the glowing sun of prohibition would cast its benighted rays over all the world. He pictured other countries basking in the same happiness which prohibition has

RUM RUNNERS NABBED BECAUSE THEY TRY TO LOAD AT WRONG BOAT

Cotuit, Mass.—(P)—The rum runners off Cape Cod have yet to learn that coast guard boats do not sell liquor.

The crew of the coast guard Patrol Boat 910 seized 300 cases of liquor, a 55-foot power boat, two smaller motor boats, a row boat, and six men early today simply because the runners got a little careless in who they asked for cargoes.

The 910 was formerly the rum runner "Tramp." She was converted into a patrol boat, but many of her characteristics were kept inviolate and in the half light of early morning she somewhat resembles her old self.

Just before dawn today the 910 was laying in the outer channel off Cotuit when a motor boat hailed her.

"Which side will we load on," the boat's skipper asked.

"Right over here," the boatswain answered.

And the first of four boats was taken in. A second motor boat and the row boat repeated the formula, a man was taken off each and the boats tied alongside. Then the Dart of Beverly, a 55-foot power boat came along. She went through the same formula, excepting that she wished to unload. She too was tied up and her crew of three men taken off. The boat with 300 cases of liquor was towed to Woods Hole.

GENERAL SALES TAX FAVORED BY SEN. REED

Pennsylvanian Also Would Stop Leaks in Income Tax Payments

Washington—(P)—Enactment of a general sales tax was proposed today by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, a high ranking Republican on the finance committee.

Senator Reed, who is close to Secretary Mellon and the administration advocated a tax of one half of 1 per cent on all commodities.

He said he would retain the present income tax also but would plug up some of the "leaks" which he described as permitting rich capitalists to evade the income levies.

The Pennsylvanian said he had not discussed his plan with Secretary Mellon but he arranged to see the treasury head late today.

However, his views were in line with those previously expressed by Mellon to the effect that the present tax base is too narrow and new taxes are necessary.

Opposes Arms Cut

Senator Reed opposed the views of Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee on a proposal to reduce further expenditures on the army and navy. Reed said the cost of national defense has now been cut down close to the "danger point." Wood had favored reductions.

Reed is chairman of the senate military affairs committee.

His views also were in opposition to those of senate Republican leaders including Watson of Indiana, who is opposed to any tax revision next session. Reed also warned against additional cash payments on their bonus certificates.

"If the bonus keeps on," he said, "we will inevitably see the army and the navy cut below the danger point. I don't believe the veterans are going to ask for a bonus at the cost of national defense."

Reed made it clear that he was against any modification downward of the inheritance or estate tax, describing it as a most just levy. However, he disagreed with the Republican independents who would seek a greater distribution of wealth through higher income taxes.

To get more returns on the income taxes from the rich, Reed advocated the abolishment of the capital gain and loss tax. He said the rich were depriving the government of enormous sums through the provision allowing deduction of capital losses in the computation of their incomes.

Reed said he would apply the sales tax upon all commodities. He estimated such a tax would bring in at least half of the present expenditures of the government or about $2,000,000,000 a year.

He said he would make this tax a permanent part of the federal revenue system rather than merely an emergency measure to meet the prospective $1,000,000,000 deficit in the treasury for next year.

Begin Hunt For Missing U. S. Airmen

Dutch Harbor, Alaska—(P)—The drone of what sounded like an airplane engine was heard by four passengers on board the vessel Arthur J. Baldwin in this vicinity between 9 and 10:30 last night. The sound was heard coming from southwest, dying away gradually to the north-east. Thick weather prevailed over the mountains at the time. Whether it might have been the trans-Pacific monoplane of Don Moyle and C. A. Allen was a matter of question.

Victoria, B. C.—(P)—Three planes of the Canadian airways, engaged in governmental survey work on Vancouver island were ready to aid in the search for Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, American fliers.

Lieut. L. R. Phinney, in command of the survey work, said the planes could be used at any time in the event of confirmation of vague rumors that the airmen had landed on a desolate island along the northern British Columbia coast.

Fliers and navigators here doubt if there was any basis for the reports, saying it was improbable Moyle and Allen could have passed south of Graham island of the Queen Charlotte group without having been sighted or heard by ships in the passage or radio stations along the shore.

NO INDICTMENT OF GANG CHIEF BY PROBE BODY

"Not Interested in Reports," Judge Says—Old Action Still Stands

Chicago—(P)—A federal grand jury report on its investigation of the prohibition charges against "Scarface" Al Capone was refused by U. S. District Judge James H. Wilkerson today.

"I'm not interested in reports, only in indictments," Judge Wilkerson informed the jury.

A moment later the grand jury appeared before Federal Judge John F. Barnes, advised him it had no report to make and was discharged.

The government made no comment on the apparent failure of the jury to carry out the full mandate given by Judge Wilkerson last July, when he directed it to reconsider the evidence and if possible reinstate Capone on specific charges carrying heavier penalties.

The original indictment, however, alleged a broad conspiracy against the prohibition act including 5,000 offenses over a decade, still stands. Judge Wilkerson last Tuesday granted the gangster's request to change his plea on that indictment to not guilty. No date for the trial has been set.

Capone Changes Stand

When the millionaire boss of Chicago gangland went into court last July with his pleas of guilty to the income tax indictments and the general prohibition conspiracy it was generally thought he would be on his way to Leavenworth prison for life. Instead, a sudden turn of events sent him back to freedom on his old bond with the necessity of more farewells if his impending trial resulted in conviction and sentence.

It was Judge Wilkerson's announcement that Capone must submit to all proper questioning if he solicited leniency that caused the right-about face of the gangster and his attorneys.

Professing surprise, his counsel informed the court of a purported agreement between the government and defense attorneys that the prosecutors would make certain recommendations, subsequently disclosed to be a proposal that sentences on prohibition and tax-evasion charges run concurrently. Judge Wilkerson insisted the pleas of guilt must be unconditional, and the following day he granted leave to change the plea in the income tax case. This will come to trial Oct. 6.

Judge Wilkerson, when he ordered the new investigation which ended today, said Capone's alleged liquor law violations "must be inquired into fully."

Referring to the liquor conspiracy indictments against Capone and 68 others, Judge Wilkerson said, only July 31: "In the enumeration of overt acts, the defendant and others are charged with substantial offenses within the period of the statutes of limitations for which a heavier penalty is provided than possible under the conspiracy indictment."

"The court will not believe, unless it is forced to do so, that the language of this indictment was chosen, without probable cause, merely for the purpose of creating the impression that this defendant had been a flagrant law breaker over a long period of time."

Admits Slaying

A self-styled Illinois gangster, 21-year-old John Markham, above, admitted to Denver police that he killed Stanley M. Moore, 21, a Michigan College of Mines student, after Moore had "bumped" a ride from him and had become suspicious that Markham had stolen the car in which they were riding.

MUCH COMMENT ON METHODIST ACTION

W. J. Campbell, Oshkosh, Scores Memorial Adopted by Conference

Milwaukee—(P)—Comments came in fast today from state political leaders when told of the memorial passed at Appleton by the Wisconsin Methodist Conference demanding retention of W. Frank Cunningham as deputy prohibition administrator for eastern Wisconsin and the removal of Levi Bancroft as United States district attorney.

W. J. Campbell, Oshkosh, associate of George Vits, Manitowish, national Republican committeeman for Wisconsin, said:

"The Methodist church and its preachers would serve humanity better if they confined themselves to the preaching and teaching of the Great Leader and stop meddling in politics. I sometimes wonder whether the good clergymen really know what they are talking about in this prohibition matter."

Vits said:

"Some people will question my right to have made a recommendation in the Cunningham-Bancroft matter, but I made a recommendation. I do not know what will be done about it in Washington, but I am going east in a few days and will make some inquiries."

"The Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in resolution or any other way has a right to express itself, and I am not complaining about that."

George Gilkey, Merrill, chairman of the conservation Republican state committee, had no comment, nor did Mrs. Harry Thomas, Sheloigan, National Republican committeewoman for Wisconsin.

George S. Meredith, Milwaukee, conservative leader, said: "It was to be expected."

MICHIGAN PARTIAL VETO HELD ILLEGAL

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—The Michigan Supreme court today ruled that Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker exceeded his power in reducing specific items in appropriations passed by the last state legislature.

The effect of the ruling was to restore to the state budget items as adopted by the legislature, adding $1,000,000 a year to the appropriation, making a total of $39,000,000 in lieu of the $38,000,000 desired by the governor.

All the justices of the court concurred in ruling that the governor had no constitutional authority to reduce the items.

SMITH NONCOMMITTAL ON CAMPAIGN IN 1932

New York—(P)—Alfred E. Smith remained noncommittal today as to whether he would run for president again.

Commenting on an article in the New York Evening Post to the effect that he would not allow his name to go before the Democratic national convention, Mr. Smith said: "Nobody has any authority to speak for me. I did not give out any statement and I have nothing to say at this time about events which are still a year away."

Harbit, 30, South Superior, and James Brennan, 42, Portland, Ore., were taken into custody near Lake Ellison late Tuesday after a series of robberies which began Monday and ranged throughout the county. BUT CHURCHMEN VOTE SUPPORT TO CUNNINGHAM

Methodist Conference Sends Protests to Hoover and G. O. P. Leaders

VITS IS CRITICIZED

Charge National Committee-man Misrepresents Wisconsin Republicans

Retention of W. Frank Cunningham as prohibition administrator of the eastern Wisconsin district, and dismissal of Levi H. Bancroft, United States district attorney at Milwaukee was urged in a memorial adopted this morning at the business session of the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Letters and telegrams expressing the attitude of the conference were sent today to President Hoover, Attorney General W. D. Mitchell, and to Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican party.

The resolution implies that removal of Mr. Bancroft and appointment of a man with more vigorous dry views, would be acceptable to the church. During the discussion which preceded the adoption of the resolution, Bancroft was termed by several speakers as being "lukewarm" in his prosecution of dry law violators.

It was charged by the ministers that Cunningham's appointment was procured by his predecessor a man said to have had wet tendencies.

Criticize Vits

George Vits, Manitowish, National Republican committeeman for Wisconsin, was criticized in the memorial, which says he and his associates reputedly recommended Cunningham's removal and "spoke without authority, misrepresenting a substantial portion of the Republican voters of Wisconsin."

The ministers charged that Vits and the others who recommended Cunningham's removal and Bancroft's retention are "wets."

Milwaukee newspapers recently charged relations between Cunningham and Bancroft have reached a breaking point. The memorial, which was presented to the conference here by members of the Kenwood Methodist Episcopal church of Milwaukee, charged Cunningham's removal. The Kenwood church committee said it also made an investigation of its own and was able to back up its charges with facts.

Recently a representative of the attorney general's office in Washington was in conference at Manitowish with Vits. Vits refused to confirm reports that he had recommended Cunningham's removal. It was learned from authoritative sources that such a move was discussed. D. W. Hutton, a layman from from the Kenwood church, said he definitely knew that Vits and the other wets had asked Cunningham's removal.

Cunningham Silent

Cunningham, notified in Milwaukee of the conference's action, as seeking knowledge of the affair and said he knew nothing of the memorial until informed by newspapermen. He made no further comment.

The memorial calls on the convention to telegraph President Hoover asking that the district attorney's office be manned "by men able and willing to cooperate with the announced policy of the federal prohibition enforcement program."

Letters concerning the memorial also to be sent to Attorney General Mitchell and Mr. Lucas.

The resolution also calls for the appointment by every church in the Wisconsin conference of a local board of temperance, prohibition and public morals. The duty of these committees shall be to "disseminate information spread by these boards as to the laws of the land, and combating the organized effort to control administrative government for the purpose of making the Eighteenth amendment and the laws pertaining thereto inoperative and ineffective."

In reference to the Cunningham-Bancroft situation the memorial says:

"Whereas there is an apparent understanding between Federal District Attorney Levi H. Bancroft and those seeking to drive out Mr. Cunningham and break down law enforcement."

"Be It Resolved that we, as members of the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and as members of the Conference Lay Brotherhood of said church, go squarely on record as supporting and urging the retention of Mr. Cunningham and urging that the district attorney's office be manned with men able and willing to cooperate with Mr. Cunningham in carrying out the

HEAT WAVE STILL RULES WISCONSIN

Little Hope for Relief Until Friday Night, Weathermen States

An unprecedented September heat wave continued over Wisconsin today as the death toll for the three-day wave mounted to three.

From over the state came reports of temperatures above the 90 degree mark. Little relief was held out for the Milwaukee weather bureau until Friday night.

At Eau Claire the mercury showed 94 at noon and a similar reading was recorded at Milwaukee.

Fond du Lac started the day with a 75, reading at 7 o'clock a. m. which climbed throughout the day and threatened to shatter the new September record of 93 set there yesterday to break the previous high September reading of 96 sent in 1913.

The latest death attributed by doctors partly to heat was that of Albert Jungmann, 70, West Allis.

FORMER GRID PLAYER ACCUSED OF MURDER

Chicago—(P)—Patrick Gavin, former professional football player and city plumbing inspector, was charged today with the murder of Miss Evelyn Danielson, 22-year-old beauty parlor operator, found dead of three bullet wounds in his apartment Sunday night.

As Gavin was held without bail, the police continued to seek Marcella Heppburn, with whom Gavin told police he had been living. In the belief she might be able to cast some light on the slaying.

At the time of his arrest, Gavin told the authorities that he had spent Saturday night drinking with the victim in his apartment and that he did not remember what took place.

ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY SUSPECT IN SLAYING

Eau Claire—(P)—Sheriff A. J. Conney and City Detective Berger Thompson were en route to Humboldt and Madison today in attempts to identify photographs of a new suspect in the slaying of A. S. Marshall, New Lisbon, field representative for the state annuity board.

The photographs were received here from Farmington, Minn., near the place Marshall's burned automobile was found after he left his home Aug. 31. The photographs, Conney said, resembled descriptions of a hitch-hiker seen with Marshall on that date. The latter's body, bearing four bullet wounds, was found near here two days later. He had been robbed of $1,200 in annuity board checks and several travelers checks.

"They say I'm not 119 years old, but back in Huntington, Tenn., where I was born, they have checked me up and find that I am right."

Hundreds of persons visited the patriarch during the day and gave him their best wishes. So far as is known he is the oldest man in Missouri.

NEW WARRANT ORDERED IN Franklin State Bank Case

Milwaukee—(P)—A fourth warrant for William A. Schroeder, president of the defunct Franklin State bank, was ordered today by District Judge George E. Page in his report of the John Doe inquiry into the failure of the institution.

While not mentioning him by name, the report also censured Calvin F. Schwenker, former state banking commissioner.

The new warrant against Schroeder will charge, Judge Page said, that the former bank president permitted deposits to be accepted when he knew the bank was insolvent.

Previously, Schroeder was charged, in warrants apart from the John Doe investigation, with falsifying bank records to deceive bank examiners, of buying stock on margin while a bank officer, and of taking a commission on loans. He was arraigned and held on $11,000 bonds in connection with the three charges and his case continued until Sept. 30.

Roosevelt Hits Long Term Bonds Plan As Depression Cure

DON'T BORROW FROM FUTURE, GOVERNOR ASKS

Depression Today's Problem, He Says in Criticizing Hoover Policies

Albany, N. Y. — (AP) — Governor Roosevelt's plan for the relief of unemployment moved a step nearer realization today, as the financial committee of legislature reported out three of the measure.

These would provide for an increase of 50 per cent in the state income tax, the proceeds to provide an estimated $20,000,000 for relief purposes; a five day week on all public works, both state and municipal, and removal from the labor law of the section exempting contractors engaged in public works outside of cities and villages from paying the prevailing rate of wage.

As reported by the financial committee, the income tax increase would be on the taxes due for payment next spring, with the provision that the taxpayer would be allowed an abatement of six months, or until Oct. 15, in which to pay the 50 per cent increase.

Syracuse, N. Y. — (AP) — Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt believes New York state would be "very foolish" if it followed the policy of President Hoover's administration in meeting a deficit in government finances by issuing long term bonds.

"In his first attack on the national Republican administration since he has been prominently mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential candidate, the governor said 'this depression is today's problem and we must not borrow against the future to meet it.'"

His criticism of the Hoover financial policies was made during a general discussion of governmental financing problems arising from the unemployment emergency at the annual farm dinner given by Jerome E. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse Post-Standard, in connection with the Syracuse state fair.

The governor reiterated his long-standing policy of having the government pay expenses as they arise instead of creating a debt to be paid in future years through long-term bond issues. He said:

"Times of depression such as the present ought to teach us something about public financing and private thrift. They ought to teach us that we can't expect to be immune from periods of stress and difficulty and that we will be in poor shape to meet such emergencies if we have a mounting burden of debt crushing us when they come upon us."

"Right now we have to consider how to meet such an emergency. Shall we meet it according to the example of our federal government, which feels itself obligated to put out $800,000,000 of long time bonds to cure the defects of a subject whose revenues have not come up to expectations? I think we should be very foolish and reckless to our trust if we should follow any such precedent. We don't know what the future holds for us. This depression is today's problem. The state must act to prevent the most dire distress among its own citizens."

"Men of all parties are agreed that this need exists and must be met. I think most of us are agreed, too, that we cannot and must not borrow against the future to meet it. We must share now out of what we have, not out of what we expect to have some day in the future."

DISTRIBUTE BOOKS AT BOARD'S OFFICE

Use of the office of the board of education as a distributing center for second hand grade school books was approved Wednesday afternoon at the special principals' meeting called by Superintendent B. J. Rohan at Lincoln school. Second hand books for grade school students brought into the office will be kept for the owner and sold if a call is made for them. Appleton high school and the junior high schools are conducting their own second hand book sales.

Principals from the various grade schools and the three junior schools attended the special meeting. The group discussed the free half cuts offered by Appleton barbers, the problem of second hand books for children unable to purchase new ones, and the details of fire drills in the city schools.

Vila Real do Santo Antonio, Portugal — The Portuguese fisherman have had too much luck. They have caught so many tuna fish that the market is glutted.

Plan Automobile Show For 1931 Fall Opening

One of the outstanding features planned for the fall opening of Appleton retail merchants which starts next Wednesday, will be a large display of automobiles by various car dealers.

Both the north and south parking lanes on W. College-ave, between Superior and Walnut-sts will be roped off and reserved for the automobile show, it was announced Thursday by Clarence Harvey, chairman of the committee in charge.

Twelve automobile dealers will exhibit from two to six cars, the opening night of the annual trade event. They are Appleton Hudson Co., Auburn Motor Co., Berry Motor Car Co., August Brandt Co., Central Motor Car Co., Curtis Motor Sales, Kaufman Service garage, O. R. Johnson Inc., Kobussen Auto Co.,

Satterstrom Chevrolet Co., Winberg Motors Inc. and Wolter Motor Co. Decorate Poles

Street lamp poles will be gayly decorated with natural foliage and modernistic "cut outs," and the 120th Field Artillery band will play on the opening night. The event will continue for three days, ending Saturday, Sept. 19.

A pavement dance is being planned next Wednesday evening. The street that will be roped off for the dance has not yet been selected. Every effort is being made by the retail division of the chamber of commerce to make the fall opening this year one of the most elaborate in the history of trade events, according to Kenneth Corbett, chamber secretary.

Lumberman Dies

Howell C. Humphrey, 73, treasurer of the G. W. Jones Lumber Co. died at his home at 304 N. Union-st. Wednesday afternoon after a lingering illness. He was in the lumber business for almost 40 years. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the residence with the Rev. H. E. Peabody in charge.

CITY SCHOOL BOARD TO CONSIDER FREE BARBERING SERVICE

Group Will Sanction or Reject Proposal of Union Barbers at Meet

Action on the proposal of the Appleton Barbers' Union and Master Barbers' association to give free haircuts to needy school children is expected to be taken by the school board at a meeting at Lincoln school at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

The committee of union barbers, which arranged plans for the relief program, has decided to extend the free service to all schools, including junior and senior high schools, it was stated today. According to preliminary plans only grade students in public or parochial schools were to get free haircuts.

Packs of cards, which will be distributed to needy children, have been sent to school principals, who, with the school nurse and teachers would determine which students come from families unable to pay 50 cents for haircuts. When the principal or teacher decides a youngster needs a haircut a card would be issued to the pupils. On the card would be the name of the shop to which he should go, and the official signature of the principal.

"In this the medical profession must assume and direct its responsibility," he said.

"Scientific discoveries in the field of medicine have directed materially the paths of official public health. They have also brought to the horizon this new field in general medicine."

"Specialization in medicine tends to obliterate the family physician. Thus the families are without the usual medical guidance. The profession requires the aid of government, the machinery of a public health department, for educational work. Your state health department therefore talks to the public in the terms of periodic health examinations, immunization, proper prenatal and natal care, normal nutrition, especially as it pertains to children. The public requests such procedure. The state demands it for its own protection. The great medical profession is fully equipped to fulfill all such expectations."

Dr. Earl E. Baker, supervisor of music in the public schools, outlined the music work in kindergartens Wednesday afternoon at Lincoln school at the first of a series of meetings he will conduct for kindergarten teachers.

In explaining the aims of musical education for the kindergarten child, Mr. Baker said that the child's interest and liking in music must be stimulated. He declared that early influences undoubtedly have much to turn a child away or toward music and count toward making music an avocation or a matter of indifference.

He pointed out the types of songs that should be used for small children, especially those which unify voices, aid monotonic chant and teach all children to love and appreciate music.

"Musical education," he said, "is conveyed to the kindergarten child largely through rote songs, which are intended to arouse the aesthetic nature of the child and develop his artistic sense."

Included in rote songs are the folk and legendary songs of the various countries, musical rounds and simple melodies for children's music.

PIONEER WOMAN DIES — Mrs. Ellen Morrison, 92, one of the first settlers in the town of Lincoln died yesterday on the farm upon which she settled shortly after the Civil war.

GUARD AGAINST MOUTH CANCER, DOCTOR URGES

Men Can Take Tip from Women in Overcoming Risk, He Declares

Madison — (AP) — Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, of Baltimore advises men who smoke to take a tip from the modern woman and learn to overcome the risk of cancer in the mouth.

"Women today are demonstrating to men that it is possible to smoke with a minimum risk of cancer," Dr. Bloodgood told a gathering of dentists and doctors at the Wisconsin State Medical society convention today.

"The modern woman keeps her teeth cleansed, smooth, stops the use of tobacco the moment she feels a sore spot, or sees any place in the lining of the mouth which is different from normal. Women give their dentists a better opportunity to protect them than do men."

"It makes no difference whether it is vanity or not, women are teaching men preventive medicine."

Dr. Bloodgood expressed the belief that protection from cancer and many other troubles having their origin about the teeth depends greatly upon the dental profession.

"The dental profession is realizing," he said, "that its work is extending beyond cleaning, straightening and extracting teeth, filling cavities, doing bridge work and preparing plates. In these regions they have become pre-eminently artists, but today this is not sufficient."

"All the benign and malignant tumors of the lining of the mouth and in the region of the teeth and jaws should come under the observation of the dentist at a time when there are practically no signs of malignancy, when diagnosis is most difficult and proper treatment yields the most perfect immediate and permanent results."

In the later stage of tumors, the stage easy to recognize, Dr. Bloodgood said, the chances of a cure are reduced tremendously, and as a rule this cure is accomplished only by mutilating operations.

He urged the early use of the X-ray, even upon children, so that root abscesses may be detected before infection is disseminated.

Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, and president of the Wisconsin Society, in his address yesterday afternoon declared that the scope of preventive medicine in the future should approach the curative procedure.

"In this the medical profession must assume and direct its responsibility," he said.

"Scientific discoveries in the field of medicine have directed materially the paths of official public health. They have also brought to the horizon this new field in general medicine."

"Specialization in medicine tends to obliterate the family physician. Thus the families are without the usual medical guidance. The profession requires the aid of government, the machinery of a public health department, for educational work. Your state health department therefore talks to the public in the terms of periodic health examinations, immunization, proper prenatal and natal care, normal nutrition, especially as it pertains to children. The public requests such procedure. The state demands it for its own protection. The great medical profession is fully equipped to fulfill all such expectations."

NOTE INCREASE IN FOX RIVER TRAFFIC

There was more traffic on the Fox river between De Pere and Portage during August than in the preceding month, according to Nelson Wrightman, government engineer. During August the locks between De Pere on the lower Fox river and Portage on the upper Fox were opened 3,701 times.

The bulk of freight shipped up and down the river, especially between De Pere and Menasha, consisted of coal for various manufacturing plants. The largest amount of freight through the locks was 40,652 tons. There were 931 passengers transported up and down the river during August.

AUTHORIZE SALE OF CHURCH PROPERTY

Monroe — (AP) — The sale of the Presbyterian church property at Plattville, Wis., where only occasional services were held recently was authorized by the administrative council of the Madison presbytery meeting at Union church here yesterday. Proceeds of the sale will be turned over to the new student church at University of Wisconsin.

The Rev. H. B. Foster, Reedsburg, was in charge of the two-day council session attended by 50 members. Dr. George E. Hunt, Madison, is president.

SOVIET POLICY BOTH ADMIRABLE AND IMPOSSIBLE

So Says Editor in Address to Methodist Ministers

Admitting that much of the Soviet policy is admirable, and much is impossible, Dr. Dan B. Brummitt, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, who spent three weeks in Russia recently, gave the ministers of the Wisconsin conference in session at the First Methodist Episcopal church, a kaleidoscopic view of "upside-down" Russia in a speech Wednesday afternoon.

He explained that there is no private property in Russia, yet everyone has something. No one is despised, yet everyone is barely exists. Everyone has a place to live, a job, and something to eat, though it be nothing but horse meat and black bread.

Classes of society are gone. But in its stead a new aristocracy, one of skill, intelligence, leadership and capabilities, is arising. There is no luxury.

No one can vote, but nevertheless every decision made by Stalin and his secret nine is the result of months of debate by the workers in the factories. The laborer is permitted to discuss and debate freely until a decision is made by the powers that be, and after the decree is made must curb his tongue.

There is no Sunday in Russia, as a matter of fact no week. There are five days in the week, four of which are work days and one of which is for rest. One-fifth of the population has one day of every five for rest.

Churches Still Open

Although there is no religion, the churches are still open and one can worship if one chooses. However, to belong to the secret party one must be an avowed atheist. A new religion, the religion of Communism, is arising. Marx is the old testament, Lenin the new, and the redeemer is worshipped by the Russians, and pictures of him grace the walls of homes like holy pictures do in a Christian land.

Dr. Brummitt predicts that Russia will not fall and says that it is not to be ignored. He argued that the Soviet method, though seemingly dictatorial, is not entirely ruthless, merely as ruthless as any other agent establishing a new order.

He told of the simple methods of marriage and divorce, of the control of the escaped prisoners merely by boycotting their chances of obtaining food other than in prison camps, of the method of compensating laborers, of the manner in which workers are kept contented, of the solution of the employment problem, of the restrictions on reading, and of how the removal of economic necessity has eliminated the curse of prostitution.

Though he felt that the regime in Russia would never satisfy the needs of America, he indicated that there is much that is profitable to Russians in the situation in that country today.

CECIL URGES EARLY ACTION IN DEPRESSION

Says Disarmament Most Important in Eliminating World Distress

Geneva — (AP) — Lord Cecil of Great Britain, in addressing the league assembly today urged the necessity of "reviving international investments" if the world is to be saved from impending financial disaster.

The British delegate read with apparent approval a portion of the Wiggins bankers committee report and emphasized his conviction that the system of international credits must be reconstructed to escape a collapse in the world's economic system.

He echoed the Wiggins warning that the governments were faced with "imperative need of action" not within a period of years but of months, perhaps weeks.

There was in existence an atmosphere of unrest and suspicion, he said, but political conditions were not altogether bad. "There is not the slightest prospect, I believe, of war," he continued, "there never was a time when war seemed less probable."

But the prevailing political customs may lead to serious international consequences, Lord Cecil added. He deplored the inflammatory speeches of a demagogic nature, saying "one inflammatory speech cannot be cured by ten moderate speeches from the same source."

Hits at Maneuvers

He sharply criticized the policy of holding air maneuvers, mentioning that they had been staged recently in Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy. He said these maneuvers proved that the possession of aircraft by one country is not a defense against attack by another and that their execution is an aid to international suspicion and anxiety.

"The present is not the time to consider the revision of existing treaties," he declared. "That would not decrease the prevailing anxiety but only increase the disturbed political atmosphere. To promote the program of disarmament is now the best thing we can do to eliminate international distress. Nothing would be more welcome by the burdened people."

The first and most important thing to be done, he said, is to promote a program of disarmament. The delegates applauded when he declared that "no government, least of all my own, will tolerate any proposal for postponing next year's general disarmament conference."

A real agreement between France and Germany "in deeds, not in words alone" would remove most of the world's political unrest, he asserted, adding, "my government always has been anxious to promote real friendship between these two neighbors."

FLASHES OF LIFE

New York — There's a mammoth new rug at the new Waldorf-Astoria. It is 70 feet, 2 inches, by 49 feet, 11 inches. It took 30 weavers in Mafersdorf, Czechoslovakia, ten months to tie the 12,000,000 knots in its hand tufted surface.

Hollywood Calif. — Barbara Bebe Daniels Lyon has joined the film colony. She weighed five pounds, 14 ounces when she arrived. "Both Bebe and Barbara are getting along fine," says Ben Lyon, proud parent.

Boise, Idaho — The mountain slopes of Boise National forest have had their first covering of snow. An inch of snow covered Landmark and West mountain near Cascade. It melted rapidly under the September sun.

New York — Aurora borealis is to have a film tryout. An expedition headed for the far north hopes to make color movies of the northern lights. The primary object of the trip is to find out what if any effect the Aurora has on radio signals and telegraph lines.

DOCTORS ATTEND SOCIETY MEETING

Dr. C. C. Boyd, Little Chute, Official Delegate of County Group

This week is a bad time for mumps, measles, appendicitis, broken arms, fractured skulls and blood poisoning. As a matter of fact, it's a bad time for any disease listed in the medical books, because most physicians and surgeons in the city are attending some or all of the sessions of the nineteenth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Medical society at Madison Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The town will never be completely bereft of doctors, however, for some cannot attend any of the sessions, and the rest are going on alternate days.

Dr. C. C. Boyd of Little Chute is the official delegate of the Outagamie County Medical society and Dr. Carl Neidhold is the alternate.

Eighteen guests speakers are scheduled to give addresses and 88 Wisconsin physicians will read papers during the three days of the convention.

The discussion of cancer will be one of the important parts of this year's session. There will be addresses, papers and special clinics on this subject and in addition Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood of John Hopkins university, Baltimore, will address the Federated Woman's club at a luncheon Wednesday noon on the subject, "What Every Woman Should Know About Cancer."

Fill Coal Bins Now, Fuel Dealers Advise

Although the majority of Appleton people probably are thinking more of keeping coal than worrying about next winter's fuel supply, fuel dealers point out that now is the time to purchase coal.

With the continued shortage of coal at the mines and the seasonal change rapidly approaching, there is no positive proof that coal prices won't rise the latter part of this month or early in October, they say.

Prices of coal and coke are from 50 cents to $1 cheaper now than at the same time a year ago, dealers say. Hard coal prices vary from $13.50 for the buckwheat to $17.50 for the nut, stove and egg coal. Pocahontas coal varies from $10 for the mine run to $11.25 for the lump coal, stove and shoveled. Zeigler coal sells for $9.50, and Winter King $9.75.

Coke prices range from $10 for Power Co. coke to $15 for petroleum coke. Milwaukee solva sells for $12. All coal prices are still subject to $1 discount.

DRAW PLANS FOR NEW BRIDGE AT DE PERE

Efforts are being made by the Wisconsin Highway commission, according to word received at De Pere, to have all preliminary work in connection with the proposed new bridge across the Fox river there completed by fall, in time to permit the Brown-co board of supervisors to consider the project when it holds its annual session in November. The proposed new bridge would replace one which has been condemned. It is over this bridge that traffic on Highway 41 is routed.

CHURCH PEOPLE LACK INTEREST, MINISTER SAYS

Indifference of Congrega- tions Deadly to Preach- er, Raines Declares

The depths of the preacher heart and mind were probed Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Richard C. Raines, pastor of the Hennepin-ave Methodist church, Minneapolis, in the first of his series of 4 o'clock addresses to the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist church at the Methodist church.

Speaking on "The Prophet's Problem," Dr. Raines generalized his topic with the statement that the problems of the modern ministry all focus in the supreme problem of every prophet, the problem of himself, his character and his relation to God.

The speaker listed the common experiences of preachers, first of all the futility in the pulpit.

"The best of our weapons of former days for fighting evil seem as antiquated and obsolete and ineffective as would bows and arrows directed against a modern battleship," he said. "We do not seem to be speaking the language of our day, we do not get a hearing. This indifference of a congregation is deadly to a preacher. Unconsciously he begins to blame the gospel which he preaches, or his God. So many preachers are confused, disheartened, bewildered, having lost the inner radiance of their faith and the thrill of victory. They are out of touch with the thought forms, the mood, the atmosphere, the desperate needs of their day and community.

Preaching Lacks Power

"Theological Rip Van Winkles, they pipe but the people do not dance. They cannot announce publicly that they have lost faith in their God and religion. Their preaching lacks the power to convict and bring decision because it does not proceed from any deep conviction. One can tell at once the difference between a preacher who is reciting, however eloquently, or noisily, or interestingly or humorously, what he has read in books, and the preacher who is quietly sharing with his people some of the riches which God has been communicating to him for his people."

He spoke of the place Cotton Mather held in his community, and of the long hours he preached and was listened to. Many of the preachers of today, he said, have lost this function in the community. The doctor, the plumber and the doctor, he pointed out, have definite tasks which everyone appreciates, but the preacher who is simply a program pusher, a manager of an organization known as the church, a deliverer of interesting talks each week the burler of the dead and the marrier of the young, has lost this position.

"Thousands of churches today cannot raise their budget because the people have lost their sense of the ultimate and vital value of the church," he continued. "It takes its place along with the Community Fund, the Y. M. C. A., and the Rotary club, and is often at the end of the list. We can blame the laymen for this but it is not their fault. If we had valued the church more it would not be so carelessly dealt with."

Hits Closing Policy

Criticizing the policy of closing the church during the summer, he told how the movie houses, the subway and elevators, and other systems essential to the life of the community continued through the summer. Does the church close because it is not vital? he questioned. He illustrated with a statement made by Bobby Jones, who once explained that the tension of the crowd does not produce the excitement and tension of the golfer, that it is the tension and determination of the golfer which produces the crowd.

"Unconsciously," he said, "the preacher accepts the values and standards of success of the secular world. He begins to itch for the larger parishes. He becomes secretary of the Rotary club or one of the best golfers in town, or becomes a popular lecturer. He teaches his people to measure the success of their church in terms of numbers, bigness either of attendance or budget. He dotes on his trips to Europe and his honors in terms of degrees from colleges. Or he may turn his efforts toward the political maneuvering of his annual conference.

"And as soon as the world senses that a preacher has been won over to evaluating things in terms that the world recognizes, it first praises him, coddles him, and ends by despising him. He is not a man on a life and death mission and the world senses it at once."

Lazy Temptations

The speaker cautioned his audience that there is no profession more open to the subtle temptations of laziness than the ministerial.

"One can be frantically busy and yet abominably lazy," he warned. "Having no definite time set aside for hard mental labor, for study that is systematic and has cumulative fruits, he becomes a slipshod preacher, gathering frantically a few facts and appealing illustrations about a given center called a text. He dances about hither and yon like a bubble of water on a hot kitchen stove, and never plumbs those quiet and healing depths for which his people unconsciously yearn."

Listing the truly important things in a minister's life, Dr. Raines put pastoral work first — doing good at every turn. Secondly he placed the study and mental anguish out of which great sermons are born. Third was the preacher's family and his health.

There is a tendency to get confused between the things a preacher really believes and what he only wants other people to believe," he said.

Fight Off Fear

"Some of us are curbed and trammelled by fear. Fear of our congregation or some wealthy member of it, or of the bishop or the district superintendent. Your people want to know what God would say to them through you and you have no right to concoct up something which we think will be simply interesting."

After painting the picture of the church without strong leadership, Dr. Raines reminded his audience that there are still preachers who feel that creative thrill of their faith and who are lifting their people toward God. He asked the ministers to turn away from the "limbo of our defeats, and let us nurture and vitalize those spots where life is found, and when the whole system is once again instinct with vitality, the disease which so bother us now will have disappeared."

"We hear on every side that religion is facing a tremendous crisis," he concluded. "The all important matter for us is not the existence of this crisis, but what attitude we shall take toward it. If we give up, let it overwhelm us, are crushed by its enormous pressure, choked by its complexity, then we are not worthy of our calling. Let us see this crisis not as a monstrous menace, but as a challenge."

Fail To Identify Five Held As Suspects In Kidnapings

ROCHE TELLS ABOUT BRIBE PAID TO COPS

Chicago Investigator's Statement of Identification Is Error

Chicago—(AP)—Conflicting statements lent an atmosphere of mystery today to the detention of five men arrested as suspected members of a kidnaping ring that has preyed on the gambling fraternity in recent months.

James Hackett, Blue Island roadhouse proprietor, viewed the men at a show-up here last night and said he could recognize none as a member of the gang that was reported to have reaped a $75,000 ransom for him.

Today Decatur officers, who turned the prisoners over to the Chicago police, asserted that Hackett had positively identified Monte Moore as his kidnaper.

Chicago—(AP)—Hope that the perpetrators of a series of kidnapings had been captured went glimmering today with the failure of James Hackett, Blue Island roadhouse proprietor, to recognize any of the five men as those who took $75,000 for his ransom.

Hackett had gone to Decatur, Ill., yesterday to attempt identification of the prisoners, Monte Moore, Morris Luttrell, John Esslinger, Joseph Yates and William Wallace. The fact that Fred J. Blumer, Monroe, Wis., brewer, and Ralph Wehrenberg of Springfield, Ill., had been released by their kidnappers near Decatur had made the report plausible.

Yesterday Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney here, announced that Hackett had identified Moore as one of his captors. Roche further announced he had information that unnamed police had accepted a $50,000 bribe from the kidnappers.

Arriving here, Hackett looked at the men and could not recognize them. Roche has not disclosed the source of his report of the alleged bribe.

The five prisoners were to be held in custody in the hope that John J. Lynch, wealthy turfman, or other victims of recent kidnapings may identify them.

A fight ago investigator Roche announced he was seeking "Scarface Al Capone, gang chief, for questioning concerning the Lynch kidnaping on a suspicion that Capone acted as go-between for the kidnappers and those who paid Lynch's ransom. Capone has not been apprehended, although morning newspapers published photographs showing the gangster and Roche in front row seats at yesterday's baseball game between White Sox and Cubs. Roche seated with Mayor Cermak and other officials while Capone and his son were in company of "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, his bodyguard, and State Representative Roland Lebonatti.

McCarthy Construction Co. of Kaukauna was low bidder for the improvement of county trunk 22 east of Kaukauna, with amiesite. The Outagamie-co highway committee yesterday opened the bids.

McCarthy who bid $6,933.34 for the job, probably will start the work next week. John Coppes was second bidder on the amiesite job. His price was $7,985.50. Bidders on concrete pavement were Ray McCarthy Construction Co., $8,727.56 and Simpson-Parker Co., Appleton, $6,933.34.

Contract for supplying gravel for repair work on shoulders of Highway 54 north of Appleton was let to E. J. Murphy, Kaukauna, on low bid of $11.24 delivered. Robert Murphy bid $12.28 and Frank Murphy $12.24.

No action was taken on bids for a 10 to 30 ton trailer. Seven firms entered bids.

MAKE RAPID PROGRESS ON RAIL OVERHEADS

Construction work on the four overheads being erected by the Appleton Construction Co. in various parts of the state is progressing rapidly, according to Ben Koepke, company head. The firm is keeping overheads on Highway 26 over the Soo Line tracks at Oshkosh; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific tracks at Randolph Lake and Astoria, and the Soo Line tracks on Highway 10 at Auburndale.

A. A. L. HEADS RETURN FROM FEDERATION MEETS

G. D. Ziegler, president of the Aid Association for Lutherans, and B. E. Mayerhoff, field representative, have returned from annual federation meetings of the A. A. L. held early this week. Mr. Ziegler took part in the program of the western federation at St. Paul, Minn., and Mr. Mayerhoff attended the Ohio federation meeting at Lancaster, W. H. Zuehlke, association treasurer, is planning to attend the federation meeting in Hobart, Ind., next Sunday.

Ouster Sought

Ousting from office of Levi H. Bancroft, above, U. S. district attorney for the eastern Wisconsin district, is sought by the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in session here. The conference alleges that he has failed to cooperate with W. Frank Cunningham, deputy prohibition administrator for the same district.

Find Mrs. George Mavis Injured Because Husband Was Negligent

Mrs. George Mavis, Appleton, was awarded $1,000 damages by a jury in municipal court Wednesday afternoon for injuries received in an automobile accident in December, 1930. The defendants in the case were George Mavis, husband of Mrs. Mavis, and the August Brandt company. Testimony brought out that Mrs. Mavis accompanied her husband, an agent for the Brandt company, on the trip at the instruction of Mr. Brandt. The jury also found Mavis negligent in his operation of the car. The accident occurred on highway 76 in the town of Greenville. Mrs. Mavis sued for $5,000 damages.

MERCURY HITS 94 MARK TO SET WEEK'S RECORD

The torrid blast entered its third day Thursday and the mercury climbed to 94 degrees above zero this noon to set a new record for the week.

Hopes for cooler weather rose for a few minutes Wednesday when it started to rain, but only a few drops fell. The light rain was accompanied by lightning and occasional thunder.

There is no relief in sight for the next 24 hours in this vicinity, judging from predictions of the weatherman. Skies will be cloudy tonight and Friday and warm weather will continue, he says.

Showers with a drop in the mercury is on the menu for upper Michigan and in the Lake Superior regions. Winds are shifting to the north and northwest. At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 67 degrees above zero.

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Student council elections at Appleton high school will be held by the various classes Thursday and Friday of this week. The incoming sophomore class will elect councilors Thursday morning at meetings in the home rooms. The groups will study the student finance problem and arrange for banking activities next Tuesday. The junior and senior classes will meet in the auditorium to have the general rules of the school explained to them at this time. Friday the sophomore group will meet in general assembly while the junior and senior classes elect their council representatives.

SUSPEND SENTENCES IN PULP WOOD THEFTS

Peter and Frank Van Toll, Little Chute, were found guilty Thursday of larceny of $15 worth of pulp wood from the Combined Locks Paper company. Sentences were suspended and the men paroled to Little Chute police chief. The two claimed they had found the wood floating in the river. The paper company claimed wind had blown the logs over to the west shore, where seven-tenths of a cord had been taken from the river.

CLEAR SAILING AHEAD, WILSON ASSURES DRYS

Noted Methodist Leader Says Both Parties Will Avoid Prohibition Argument

brought to the United States. He saw the world living, advancing and being happy without the influence of a "tainted liquor dollar."

"In 1930 and again so far this year the dry cause has been assailed by the wet forces in an effort to weaken prohibition," Dr. Wilson stated. "In very instances, however, these attacks have proved boomerangs which struck at the wet cause and strengthened that of the drys. These events in 1930 were: The Literary Digest poll, the wet and dry hearings in Washington, the lobbyist investigation by the senate, the 1930 election and the Du Pont wet and dry poll in Delaware. In 1931 the events included Judge Clark's decision, the Wickersham report, the Raskob 'fiasco,' and the Illinois legislature's repeal of the state prohibition act."

Assails Blaine In explaining how these various events proved boomerangs to the wets Dr. Wilson touched on the name of Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin.

"That little whippersnapper," he declared. "The only thing he is known for is his infallible precision for being on the wrong side of every question that comes up." This remark was followed by prolonged applause.

Dr. Wilson called the Literary Digest poll a fraud. He said it was intended merely to fool the people. He pointed out that nine years ago the magazine, when prohibition was only one year old, had conducted a similar poll with similar results. The election which followed that poll proved how wrong it was, he said.

He declared the wet and dry hearings in Washington were called by Senator Gracian at the behest of a wet. He said all wet testimony was confusing and that witnesses couldn't agree, whereas the drys, bolstered with testimony from men like Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, won a complete victory. He said the drys won a victory despite the garbled newspaper accounts which didn't even bring good publicity to the wets. "Another dry victory," he characterized the event.

Praise For Cannon

Dr. Wilson termed Bishop Cannon of the Methodist church South one of the outstanding men in the dry cause today. He said the devil hated him but that he loved him for the enemies he made and the fearless stand he took and held on the question of his personal rights. He claimed that the efforts to oust the bishop by the southern conference were the result of activity on the part of "cut throat" southern Democratic leaders who wanted to punish him because he refused to support the Democratic ticket in the last election, despite his objection to the nominees for president. He said these efforts were based on two points only. They were: first, the charge that he speculated and second, the fact that as a churchman, he took to prominent a part in the campaign.

The doctor dismissed the first charge with the explanation that every man must fall for a speculation scheme sometime or other, and Bishop Cannon had the misfortune to have his fall come late in life.

He explained that Cannon had worked and struggled all his life to support his family. When his wife and his children were educated and earning their own livelihood, the bishop finally saved $3,000. He said two men, with "Jewish proclivities," then approached the bishop with glowing tales of big interest and dividends and the bishop fell for it. That was the bishop's only "crime," he said. He pointed out he hadn't done anything that anyone could object to and that the bishop had been vindicated every time he was assailed.

Church and Politics

"When Bishop Cannon walked out of the senate lobbyist investigation he taught those politicians a lesson they needed," Dr. Wilson said. They have been crying continually that the church should stay out of politics and he told them they should keep their dirty hands out of the church. He agreed to answer all questions about lobbying but he refused to answer question about his personal activities in the campaign against Smith. And he was right. The bishop had a right as an individual to invest his money anywhere he wanted and also to oppose any candidate.

Dr. Wilson said that only last week he refused to appear before the senate committee to testify regarding a $5,000 donation made by his board to Bishop Cannon. "I told them I was busy and they 'should keep their hands out of the church work,' he declared. Then he explained the money was given to assist the church south in getting a board started, because the northern board realized the struggle they faced.

The doctor dismissed the overwhelming wet sentiment shown in the DuPont poll in Delaware with the explanation that only DuPont's wet friends answered the referendum while the drys didn't vote. He said the election which followed this referendum showed the state of Delaware was dry and would remain dry. The elections of 1930 were a great dry victory, he claimed. He pointed out that seven or eight of the foremost dry leaders were elected with big majorities and that dry cause now had one more senator than it had before.

Why Morrow Won He dismissed the election of Senator Morrow, a wet, with the explanation that the father-in-law of

128 MORE STUDENTS ENROLL THIS YEAR IN SCHOOL SYSTEM

With 4,246 students in Appleton public schools this week, the enrollment has increased by 128 over last year, according to records from the office of the board of education. The enrollment last year was 4,118. Appleton high school has the largest first day enrollment in the history of the school, with 1,066 enrolling Tuesday morning in comparison to 964 last September. The next nearest single enrollment was last Sept. 5, 1929, when 1,049 students attended high school, which included the freshman class that has since been transferred to the junior high schools.

Herbert H. Heible reports that the classrooms are crowded to capacity, making it impossible for many students to obtain their first choice classes. High school classes began on the regular 55 minute schedule, six period day Wednesday morning.

RECKLESS DRIVING IS CHARGED AFTER CRASH

A warrant for reckless driving on Highway 41 near the bridge at the foot of Little Chute hill has been issued for Chester J. Czarny, Chicago. Czarny crashed into the bridge and broke off part of the railing about 11:30 the night of Sept. 7. The warrant for his arrest has been signed by Peter A. Van Oudenhoven, county motorcycle officer.

Herman Pruett, Jr., 509 N. Appleton-st, was shaken up, and Jacob Haggard, Appleton, was bruised and injured on the head when a car owned by the latter and driven by the former crashed into the rear of a rack loaded with corn stalks about two miles north of Appleton last night on highway 47. The horses drawing the rack, which belonged to Henry Van Camp, were injured.

TWO INJURED WHEN CAR CRASHES INTO POLE

Ray Goodman, Y. M. C. A., and Rud Fischer, 906 S. Oneida-st, were injured about 9:40 Wednesday night when a coupe owned and driven by the former crashed into a telephone pole on S. Oneida-st. The pole was broken off by the impact of the collision.

Goodman cut his lip and scratched his body. Fischer was bruised. The car was going south at the time of the accident.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Krueger, Kimberly, Thursday.

A ten-pound son was born Sept. 1 to Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Neill at St. Anthony hospital, Milwaukee. Mrs. O'Neill was formerly Miss Hilda Van Right, Appleton.

A daughter was born Aug. 20 to Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Skindrud, St. Paul, formerly of Appleton. Mr. Skindrud was a social science teacher at Appleton high school for three years.

A daughter was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weisler, route 1, Hortonville, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

PASTOR RETURNS

The Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical church, has returned from Freeport, Ill., where he attended the annual meeting of the deaconess society of the Evangelical church. Mr. Blum is the Wisconsin conference representative in the society.

Colonel Lindbergh could not have been defeated no matter what he stood for.

Dr. Wilson termed Judge Clark, who made the decision in which he held the Eighteenth amendment unconstitutional, a "two-for-a-nickel judge who didn't have brains enough to be justice of the peace in Wisconsin." He said the judge was the youngest and shallowest of federal judges. He said that when the supreme court dismissed his decision and rebuked him for his stand, that the judge should have resigned.

"With nine wets and only two drys on the Wickersham committee," Bishop Cannon declared, "that body vindicated the stand of the drys so thoroughly that the wets should remain discouraged forever." The bishop said he had opposed the appointment of the members of this committee and he said their dry findings were all the more pleasing because they were made by a committee so consistently wet.

"Mrs. Ruth Hana McCormick of Illinois is a female Judas Iscariot and she deserves the fate of having Judas Iscariot come back to earth and marry her," declared Dr. Wilson. He pointed out that she had betrayed and double-crossed the drys and therefore this fate would not be too bad for her. He said Mrs. McCormick succeeded in being elected to congress and nominated for the senate because she claimed she was more dry than the incumbents.

"Then she changed overnight and agreed to abide by the wishes of the voters in a 'fake referendum.' The drys were left without a place to turn. We refused supporting an honest wet like Senator Lewis rather than a double-crossing dry like Mrs. McCormick. We finally got our own dry candidate and succeeded in defeating Mrs. McCormick by an immense vote," the doctor said.

"This confusion in the state finally led the legislature to vote repeal of the state dry act and to withdraw from the United States Constitution. But Governor Emmerson came to the front like a great moral leader and vetoed the suggestion. He thereby won the respect of the entire country. I believe this conference should register a vote of commendation to Governor Emmerson and that it should pray for a governor like him," the doctor declared.

Dr. Wilson urged a united front to defeat the ever-fighting forces of the wets and with such a front, he predicted, prohibition will remain on the books forever.

VOTE MERGER OF DISTRICTS IN CONFERENCE

Consolidation Creates Three Districts in Methodist Organization

With only five dissenting votes, the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, at its annual meeting here this morning voted to consolidate its four districts into three. The present districts of Appleton, Fond du Lac, Janesville and Milwaukee will be eliminated, will become the Northern, Central and Southern districts.

Although there was considerable discussion in advance of the adoption of the merger plan, the numbers of objectors was reduced until only five remained when the final vote was taken.

Views of those opposing the merger were in the main that it is not an economical move from a spiritual standpoint, even if it should prove to cost less than the present four-district system. Objectors said that four district superintendents now have enough work to do and that to increase their burden will make it still more difficult for them. It was pointed out that laymen are urging pastors to draw up a spiritual program of activity. To carry out this program, the opponents of the merger said, would require at least four district superintendents.

Proponents of the consolidation declared that the conference could save about $3,500 a year as a result. Several ministers said they believed in this time of depression they should cut expenses wherever possible.

Two Plans Offered Two plans for grouping parishes in the new district plan were presented, but the conference decided to lay the matter over until this afternoon. Under the present system the Appleton district has 39 parishes; Milwaukee, 31; Fond du Lac, 35; and Janesville, 33. Under the first new plan District 1, which includes Appleton, would have 46 parishes; District 2, which includes Milwaukee, would have 45 parishes; and District 3 would have 46 parishes. Under the second plan District 1, including Appleton, would have 45 parishes; District 2, 46; and District 3, 46.

It was pointed out by one of the ministers that other conferences throughout the country have a much larger average number of parishes in each district. Others who favored the plan declared the consolidation would permit the removal from the district superintendent's shoulders the duty of a lot of detail work and give him

GIVEN PERMISSION TO CONSTRUCT ADDITION

Mrs. Hubert Merkel was given permission to build an addition to her home at 1428 W. Second-st at a meeting of the board of building inspection Thursday morning. The house, a frame building, is located in the fire limits.

TOUCHES LIVE WIRE; TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Joseph Bergholz, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bergholz, 735 W. Oklahoma-st, burned both hands when he touched a live wire at the Appleton Pure Milk company Wednesday evening. Bergholz, while cleaning a boiler at the plant, attempted to change a light bulb. He lost consciousness for about 20 minutes after touching a wire carrying 110 volts. Aid was summoned by Simon Sommers, who was working with him. He is improving at St. Elizabeth hospital.

more time to spend in actual spiritual work.

Approve Commission The conference also, by a large vote, adopted a resolution calling for appointment of a Commission on Finance. This commission will take over the duty of collecting funds in the district and setting and paying the salary of the district superintendents.

The commission will be made up of the district superintendents, one minister and two laymen from each district. It will elect officers and meet regularly. The salary for the district superintendents and the amount to be contributed by each parish is to be determined later by the conference.

At present the conference operates under the district steward plan, whereby each parish elects a steward and a district board of stewards meets regularly to set the superintendents' salaries and pay them. Several ministers objected to the new finance plan on the ground that it is taking away from the church another contact with the laymen.

Artists from Lawrence conservatory of music will give a concert at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock Friday evening, as a part of the program. The public is invited. Proceeds from the concert will be used to help defray expenses of the conference.

OUTLINE PROGRAM FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Baby Clinic Scheduled for Last Friday in September

The general program for the year's activities were discussed at the meeting of the board of directors of the Appleton Woman's club this morning. Chief among the various club activities will be another baby clinic the last Friday in September and the resumption of swimming classes for Appleton women at the Y. M. C. A.

Plans have been made for an extra swimming class during the winter for business girls. Classes will begin Oct. 1. Mrs. W. S. Ryan and Mrs. Ray Challoner are in charge of this activity. The Girl Scouts will use the building behind the Woman's club for their meetings and activities this winter. It was decided to have two directors take charge of serving luncheons for the Business and Professional Women's club and the Women's club luncheons will be continued at the monthly meeting. This year any club member desiring reservations for any of the meetings may do so, whether she is included on the usual guest group or not. In order to keep the clubhouse open more often, a man and wife will take possession of the house in October, as caretakers. They will take care of the house and its property and keep the clubhouse open.

During the winter months the street department will collect rubbish the first Monday of each month.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD APPROVES PAVEMENT

The S. Oneida-st pavement was approved by the board of public works after an inspection trip Thursday morning. Notices of assessment will be sent to property owners immediately.

The brick street, now one of the finest stretches of pavement in the city, was resurfaced with bitulithite from McKinley to the city limits. Street car rails were removed from the drawbridge to the first turn of the hill, and from there on the tracks were covered.

Street department workers are now repairing the crosswalks on the street, elevating or dropping them to meet the grade of the street.

WHATLEY HEARING SET FOR SEPT. 25

Submits to Jurisdiction of Municipal Court Without Arrest

Seaborn T. Whatley, Jr., 18-year-old Chicago youth, yesterday afternoon submitted to the jurisdiction of the municipal court without arrest and heard a complaint charging manslaughter in the fourth degree read to him by Judge Theodore Berg. Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 18 and immediately continued to Sept. 25 on request of the youth's father. Bond of $1,000 was furnished.

Whatley was driver of the car which went through an arterial highway sign at Leppia's Corners on the afternoon of Sept. 1, killing four persons and injuring several others. A warrant for Whatley's arrest was issued by the municipal court Tuesday. Tuesday night Seaborn T. Whatley, Sr., wired District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl that the youth would arrive in Appleton Wednesday afternoon.

Arrest of Whatley followed a conference between the district attorney, Judge Berg and Sheriff John Lappen, in which it was decided to make a test case of the accident.

ADVISE INVESTORS TO BUY MORTGAGES
ON LOCAL PROPERTY

Buyers Who Go Afraid to Make Purchases Run Into Difficulties

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press.

New York—Speaking generally the best real estate mortgage investment for the individual is the one secured on local property. The best advisor as to the quality of such a mortgage is the local bank. As soon as the buyer goes abroad in the search for an investment of this type he meets the difficulty of learning on what basis and with what degree of conservatism the property is appraised.

It is particularly dangerous to loan money in boom times in distant states. The experience of those who speculated in Florida real estate is an apt illustration. What the buyer wants is a stable market for the property on which his mortgage is a lien. He can best be assured of that if he confines his commitments to his own immediate neighborhood where he is in a position to know conditions for himself.

Avoid Special Losses
Again speaking generally he will do well to avoid loans on special purpose properties, such as clubs, theatres, churches, etc. It is safer to take a mortgage on a business or residential plot. Obviously unimproved property does not make for conservative mortgage investment. The character of the borrower should be given due weight although it is secondary to the value of the real estate. Farm mortgages in a class by themselves and if they are under consideration the guidance of an expert in that field is necessary.

Once more it is to be borne in mind that every real estate mortgage investment is a problem by itself. Probably most people in these times will be disposed to invest in this class of investment severely alone because of the depression which has affected real estate as it has every thing else. Buyers are scarce and would-be sellers are numerous. Many properties are available at real sacrifices. In some places the real estate market is demoralized. And yet this very fact makes the well selected mortgage more desirable now than ever.

If there is sufficient margin of safety under present conditions the grade of the investment will be raised and not lowered as conditions improve.

WINTER WHEAT ACREAGE
TO JUMP 70 PER CENT

Madison — (P) — Winter wheat acreage in Wisconsin this fall will be 70 per cent greater than that of a year ago and rye acreage will be increased 18 per cent, Walter Ebling, agricultural statistician for the U. S. and Wisconsin department of agriculture, has reported.

If present sowing intentions are carried out, Wisconsin farmers will plant about 58,000 acres of winter wheat and 210,000 acres of rye, Mr. Ebling said.

For the nation, winter wheat seedings will be 12 per cent less than seedings last year, if intentions indicated by farmers in August are carried out, he said. Reports indicate that farmers intend to sow 37,844,000 acres of winter wheat in the nation.

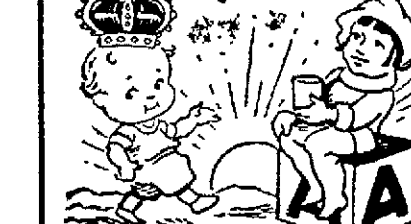

Mr. Ebling said decreases in acreage are reported as intended from most of the important winter wheat states. Farmers intend to decrease by 5.5 per cent the acreage seeded to winter rye for grain in the United States. This will mean a seeding of 3,490,000 acres as compared with 3,692,000 acres last fall. With the exception of Wisconsin and Nebraska, most of the states which grow important quantities of rye for sale are planning to sow a decreased acreage, Mr. Ebling said.

YOUNG FOLKS ASKED TO STAY IN SCHOOL

Madison — (P) — To increase the chances for employment for adults, the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America this week asked that young people continue in school rather than seek work. It issued a statement saying: "Believing that the church has serious responsibility in the present emergency of unemployment . . . we urgently call upon congregations, pastors, colleges, schools and inner agencies in our respective churches to urge the advisability of our young people continuing in school rather than seeking employment in competition with heads of families."

Wisconsin's Northern
Lake Area Very Large

BY B. A. CLAFLIN
How big is Wisconsin's outdoors? The ordinary individual who goes to some favorite, little lake for a week-end has little conception of the magnitude of our northern lake region playgrounds. This was brought rather forcibly to my mind during a trip just ended.

CLAFLIN

We were after muskies and we got them, though they ran, for the most part, a bit below the legal size limit of 30 inches. However, we were not disappointed. We knew in advance the size of the fish that would respond to our lures, and besides, we were out for the pure sport of it and not for meat.

But what I want to speak of today is the immense size of our northern playgrounds. Consider this: Our trip down the Bear and the Flambeau covered a stretch of 23 miles. We launched our Sunday at 10 a. m. and reached our journey's end the following day at about noon, camping overnight at a spot about midway.

At one place 20 miles downstream, there were thirty autos, and at another place where we left the river I counted 35 cars. We were told that these cars averaged four anglers each. That would total 260 fishermen, all of whom were on the Flambeau with its many bays and vast acreage of overflowed land.

Yet, on our entire trip down we met only one boat, and saw, all told, just six anglers. In addition to the fishermen I actually knew were there, hundreds of others must be added, because many of them were encamped at various places along the route. I think I am safe in saying that at least a thousand fished the Flambeau from the bridge on the Wisconsin to the Turtle River last week-end.

There is little doubt but that at least one member of each party caught a musky, many more, which will afford you some idea of how prolific that famous stream is. There are days when they hit better than at other times, yet on the poorest days, by persistent "plugging" some fish can always be taken.

The musky, fortunately, is a species of fish that easily maintains itself. While there are many caught throughout the open season, we must consider that there are many anglers after them. But notwithstanding the hundreds caught the number is far below that of other species, such as wall-eyes and northernpike. And for that reason there is little danger of them ever being annihilated by anglers.

The musky fishing on the Flambeau this year is not up to standard because of the low stage of water prevailing. It requires considerable more knowledge of the game and much more work to get them. And let me say that the "tiger of the fresh water," as he has been dubbed, is the king of all fresh water fish from an angling standpoint, he is gamier, fights longer and harder and is more difficult to entice into striking than any species I know of. The second that hit my lure made a broad leap of at least ten feet.

OTTO OUGHT TO KNOW

Seattle — The Johnson family at Renton Junction own a goat named Otto. Recently Mrs. Johnson was cleaning house, and among other things, placed a large mirror out in the back yard. The goat, passing by the mirror, saw a reflection of himself. Lowering his horns, he rushed pell-mell into the glass, and breaking it into a hundred pieces and knocking himself out.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"VIRGO"

If September 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 11:50 a. m., from 1:25 p. m. to 3:50 p. m., from 5:10 p. m. to 7:20 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:55 p. m. The only danger period is from 7:30 a. m. to 9:50 a. m.

September 11th is, according to the Signs, full of great promise.

In all fields—business, domestic and spiritual—there will be great stimulation. It is an ideal occasion—although a Friday—to strike out on a new path, to forget disappointments, to discount difficulties, and to forge ahead.

Children born on this September 11th will possess considerable originality but little self-reliance. They will be able to think out new methods, but will lack the courage to put them into action. Only if they can depend on outside assistance, will they achieve that measure of success for which they were primarily destined.

You, if born on September 11th, have much for which to be grateful. Your natural gifts are many, and, with perseverance, and determination, they can be capitalized to the nth degree, and bring in their train, commensurate rewards. Because you are gifted, though, is no excuse for not making use of your talents, or hiding your light under a bushel. At times, you lack self-confidence, but this, as the years roll by, should vanish, and you ought to feel sure of yourself.

You, in all work entrusted to you, are very prompt and an apt disciple of the "do it now" cult. You do not believe in slipshod effort, and do everything to the best of your ability. Dependability and accuracy are also assets of your "make-up." As a friend, you are unbreakable. You can always place yourself in the other person's shoes, give sound advice, render timely help—and keep your mouth shut.

stancy and loyalty will, however, be the result.

BE PREPARED
An additional traffic hazard has been created in Appleton this week by the opening of schools. Motorists need to remind themselves that thousands of school children are trooping to schools, and, with customary childish abandon, run across streets with little attention to passing traffic.

This situation calls for extra precautions on the part of the driving public. None but the most wanton or careless motorist will drive through children in the streets, but even the ordinarily careful driver sometimes fails to recognize the dangers lurking in groups of youngsters on the sidewalks or on the boulevards. Without the slightest warning a child will dart into the traffic and, unless motorists have their cars under constant and perfect control, tragedy is almost sure to result.

The advice carried on warning signs erected in Appleton a few years ago that motorists should "use their brakes, children never hear the horns" is as good today as when the signs were put up. If every motorist will be prepared always for emergency when he passes children there is little likelihood of serious accident.

ETERNAL YOUTH
Speaking at the recent International Congress of Radiologists in Paris, Dr. Jules Stoklasa, director of the radium extraction station at Prague, Czechoslovakia, made the following astonishing statement:

"Old age is simply a state in which the tissues of the body have become deoxidized, and the state of complete deoxidization is death. But the Alpha rays are capable of arresting this process, while the Beta and Gamma rays, by reoxidizing the cell tissues, give them new life. Theoretically, therefore, there would appear to be no reason why worn-out tissues should not be perpetually renewed. The human body would thus become practically indestructible."

And school children still smile that even 400 years ago one could be so credulous as Ponce de Leon who fought mosquitoes, malaria, yellow-jack and Indians along the coast of Florida in search for the fountain of eternal youth.

Well, there isn't any such fountain, and a layman who wouldn't know radium if he met it on the streets may nevertheless be pardoned for saying that there isn't any chance of making the human body indestructible.

And if by any vagary of nature such a result could be obtained the man who discovers the method should be blown to atoms before he can make it public.

The hideous possibilities, were the tragedy of death removed from life, would be more than dismaying, for then the world would stagnate and stagnancy is more cruel and repellant than death. In time the world would be crowded with hundreds of millions like that historic figure called the Wandering Jew, praying for relief from life yet afraid to encounter death, craven creatures, unnatural and pitiable.

Man has been unable to manufacture gold, create perpetual motion, travel to another planet or prevent human decay and dissolution.

It may be quite all right to strive, for "low aim and not failure is crime," and through the endeavor, priceless, beneficial secrets may be unveiled, but only mockery can result from beguiling oneself into thinking he has discovered "the tongueless secret locked in fate."

Science may more properly spend its time in easing and solacing the pathway of life, for after the passage of many years nature has seemed to order that life itself shall become quite intolerable.

SENTIMENT LIVES
Mrs. Emma Martin, 80, of Chicago, and Norville Williams, 86, of Niles, Ill., were married the other day after having been divorced for 34 years. They had been married for 29 years and reared five children before they separated.

The reunion is proof that sentiment is still a powerful factor in society, in spite of the scientific trend of modern philosophy which sometimes insists that steel and iron and the Five Year Plan are much more potent. Memories apparently last just as long as they did when a song-at-twilight set the tempo of the age.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were in partnership during the best years of their lives. They probably sacrificed now and then in order to buy rose-sprigged cups for the dining room, and wondered why boys' shoes wore out so much faster than girls'. They may have congratulated each other because their sweet peas grew higher than their neighbors'. All of their dreams and longings and aspirations grew up, side by side.

But when their children were grown, and their days weren't quite so busy, and they didn't have the sense of being needed so much, they reached a crossroads. They separated.

But they couldn't forget. Maybe the sight of a father and mother and five small children walking down the street together called up a picture that had a lot in common with the younger family.

Anyway, they kept remembering. When their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren started to suggest that they ought to get married again, they listened and took the advice. Not so much, it is fairly safe to wager, because the others wanted them to do so, but because they themselves were lonesome for each other. Besides, their second marriage has a sense of novelty. The intervening years have wrought changes in both of them.

Middle age may change people. But the last years of life are rather pathetically dependent on the first years. They seem to tie up together. People don't talk so much of what they did when they were 50. But they reminisce about the 'teens and the twenties.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams needn't worry about a community of interests. They have it, and they took a wise step.

HAY MOWS
Of national societies of one kind and another this country has its share. Yet there ought to be plenty of room for the Society of Hay Mow Sleepers, a group organized by a number of New York and Chicago business executives. The aims of this outfit are simple. Membership is open to men who either were brought up on farms and slept in hay mows as a matter of course or were brought up in cities and wanted to sleep in hay mows but never did. The club houses, naturally enough, will be barns, strategically located in various parts of the country. Each barn will contain a hay mow, and any member can gratify his passion for hay mow sleeping at any time simply by repairing to one of these club barns.

A good many devices have been brought forth in the last few years to soothe and divert the tired business man. Musical shows are staged, clam bakes are arranged, summer camps have been brought into being; but could any of these really compete with a good hay mow?

Sleeping in a hay mow is one of the noblest pursuits open to mankind. In the first place, hay makes an ideal bed—soft, rustling, warm in cool weather and cool in warm weather. It is odorless with a spicy fragrance that brings sleep almost of its own efforts.

Besides, the surroundings serve to increase the sleeper's enjoyment. The hay mow is dusky, quiet, secluded; and on rainy days, when the raindrops drum on the roof and the eaves drip musically, the hay mow sleeper has no cause to envy anyone on earth.

There ought to be a big place for such a club. There may be just one trouble; the organizers will probably find themselves swamped with applications.

Tests conducted in Pittsburgh by scientists indicate that the average healthy person changes his position 38 times in eight hours of sleep and that it is abnormal to sleep without moving.

Gar Wood has admitted during Kaye Don, British speedboat pilot, into beating the gun at the races in Detroit. Thus Don, whose boat had proved itself to be far more speedy in the trial runs, was disqualified. Incidentally, his boat capsized.

That great old American spirit of fair play.

Gar was mad at Kaye because the Englishman wouldn't postpone the race for three quarters of an hour, giving Gar a chance to repair a boat and cooling the Englishman's motor down below efficiency point.

Somehow, a fellow can't feel any particular bursts of patriotism just because England didn't get the trophy. At that, the judges ruled it "No Contest."

DON'T PICK ON THE CHILD WITH ST. VITUS' DANCE

Chorea or St. Vitus' dance is not a nervous condition at all, but an infectious disease. The patient is no more "nervous" than you or I would be if he were to put up with the many annoyances the chorea patient has to endure.

It is in my opinion, a serious mistake to regard such a child as a "nervous" child or to pamper the child more than one would if the trouble were, say, bronchitis or enuresis. Of course such an invalid in the home should receive fair consideration and sympathetic care, but in no case should this extend to the deprivation of ordinary pleasures or privileges for other children or members of the household. If you pamper the choreic child in the months the illness usually lasts, you'll have a tart to handle after the chorea is over with. If the illness drags on for a year or two, as it does in not a few cases, then a pampering policy spells the ruin of the child, for he is pretty certain to be a difficult person for everybody to get along with for many years if not for the rest of his life.

Worse than mere pampering, I think, is the too common practice of experimenting with the child with chorea. I mean this trick of trying now this, now that doctor, for a week or two, and running around from quack to quack or from fakery to fakery, in quest of some miraculous cure. It seems that the quacks and fakery, the self-commended experts, have the sure cure—regular, honest physicians never seem to be able to discover sure cures for anything.

Worse than this half-baked practice of experimenting on the choreic patient is the sneaking or open use of superstitious charms, incantations and such hocus-pocus on the luckless child. Even if the patient is sound in mind and nerves this sort of medieval voodooism is enough to wreck the mind and make the little one hysterical.

The most essential remedy for St. Vitus' dance is REST, and parents who have none too much intellectual capacity can scarcely realize how much good REST will do when the condition is at its worst and all sure cures have been tried without benefit. One of the best ways to give the child with St. Vitus' dance the great benefit of rest is by keeping the child in bed for a few days. This is not so simple as it may seem. Often it requires all the skill of the physician to secure for the child this benefit. You can't merely order your child to stay in bed, for that may be actually injurious when the chorea is very bad. I repeat it is a difficult matter and demands real medical skill.

For that matter, there is only one sound course to pursue when a child develops chorea, and that is to place the child under the care of your physician, and let the physician attend regularly and keep close watch on the child's heart and his general condition throughout the illness, which, after all, is likely to be soonest mended when well attended.

If you have a child with St. Vitus' dance, write in for Instructions for Management of Chorea, and inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Big Boys

Your correspondent, T. R., should have a good look at me if he thinks he is overgrown. He is 17, 6 feet 2, and weighs 170. I am 16, 6 feet 5, and weigh 208 pounds. I graduated from high school last spring. I intend to reach 6 feet 8 inches before my growing days are over. I like to be big—everyone must look up to you. Girls like big men. (M. G.)

Answer—That's the right philosophy.

$6,000
Would $6,000 be sufficient to carry a student through medical school? This is to cover tuition, books and all other college expenses. (A. B.)

Answer—Well, it should carry him well along toward the coveted degree, but I fear he will have to dig up about as much again before he will be ready to practice, these days.

Ripening Artificially
I have heard that oranges are picked green and ripened by exposure to ethylene gas. Have such oranges the same vitamin value as oranges ripened on the tree? (R. W. E.)

Answer—I believe not. Sunlight is the source of the vitamin influence.

Iodism
A year ago I started taking rather full doses of iodine of potassium after meals for . . . noticed irritated condition of my gums . . . dentist says this was brought on by the medicine . . . (W. E.)

Answer—Too much iodine may produce such an untoward effect.

Consulting Psychiatrist
Relative has been "nervous wreck" two years. Every effort to persuade him to consult mental specialist brings on a storm. You said one can compel such a person to be examined . . . (G. J. A.)

Answer—If there is any reason to believe the person mentally incompetent any near relative may apply to any court of record and the judge will issue an order or paper authorizing proper examination. If the person is found insane the judge will commit him to proper hospital treatment. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

The Tinymites
By Hal Cochran

THE gondolier was big and strong. His fine, slim craft moved right along and hardly tipped to left or right. 'Twas marvelous to see. The Tinymites felt right at home, and Scouty said, "Wherever we roam in this fine boat I'm satisfied. It quite appeals to me."

"Me, too," cried Clowny. "And I'd like to see if I could also hike along the glass-like water with the paddle in my hand. I know I'd make you all take note that I can run most any boat. Now tell me, shall I try it? You will get a thrill that's grand!"

"Oh, no," the others loudly cried. "We do not think we care to ride if you are going to try your luck. You're careless as can be. Just let the man who owns it run his boat and we will have more fun. In just about a minute you would have us in the sea."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Clowny. "You're plain dumb. If you think not, explain how come you call this lovely little stream we're riding on a sea. It's just a pleasure stream, my lad. Your ignorance is sometimes said. But I won't try to run this boat, so don't fret over me."

They finally drifted back to shore. The Travel Man said, "I've in store another interesting story. We'll take a cab right now. To an estancia we'll go. That's what they call a farm, you know. The cowboys there know how to ride and they will show you how."

They reached the farm and there they found some dressed-up cowboys riding round. It wasn't very long until wee Clowny loudly cried, "The saddle are of sheep wool. Gee! How nice and soft they all must be!" A cowboy said, "Well, hop right up and take a little ride."

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES
New York — An unassisted wise cracker invading Texas Guinan's own balliwick made her do what only the French government was able to do before: swallow her "Hello sucker," appraisal.

The intended victim was a big bluster and gag woman from Hollywood, Polly Moran.

Madame Guinan spotted Marie Dressler's little playmate among the ginger ale addicts at her inn and yanked her to the floor for a sisterly razing.

When Texas stopped for breath, the very veteran Polly, who has been around quite a bit herself in her day, told the snickering habitués:

"That's all right, folks," it's just me old mother."

Texas, it seems, doesn't relish allusions to her having attained the age of majority, so Polly, by the way of consolation, added:

"But, see, Tex, I think it's a great surprise—after that successful tour of France, you didn't come home with a Parisian accent."

When the last laugh had died out, Texas Guinan was one dig short.

Popular Polly
Polly, who came to New York to make personal appearances in one of the citadels of the cinema, would wait until the last show was over to go cavorting. She seldom left the theatre before then, even for supper.

Between appearances her dressing room was besieged by so many visitors that on guests had to be declared at times, to permit the flicker funster a bit of rest.

Getting off gags and effervescing for all comers is something of a strain.

When Polly doffed her stage harness for her midnight madness, Yascha Bunchuk, the orchestra conductor, frequently escorted her.

Going After Lions?
Going hunting for big game or fishing for big fish?—That is, anywhere in this whole, wide world. If so, telephone, write or wire Frederick J. Burghard.

He'll give you advice only, or he'll plan and carry through your trip in any quarter where there happens to be what is known as "organized hunting." He'll arrange for guides, pictures of your bag, and even for your taxidermy, if you so desire.

Burghard tells me that his elaborate service costs the hunter or angler nothing. He has his financial arrangement with the guides, photographers, et al., in the far flung places of the world.

He is a native New Yorker who happened to stumble into this business by way of a sporting goods store, of which he was vice president. A department was set up in the store to give advice to customers. That led to his office on Fifth avenue, which takes care of his highly specialized profession.

At this writing he is awaiting a party from England, going after game in British Columbia, and another group from California, going off into the lion country.

Office Kitchenet
Shortly after he entered the President's cabinet, he established his kitchenet in an alcove near his office.

In Toledo, where he lived before coming to the capital, he had a garden where he raised his own vegetables for cooking. In Washington he made a start at the same thing.

Some 25 miles down the Potomac river from the capital, on land made available to him by a friend, he planted some sweet corn.

He had hoped to construct there an oven in the open and bake some of his product, but he could never find sufficient time.

He did find time, however, while there to spend a few hours on an old catboat on short cruises down the Potomac.

Sailor's Yarn
The catboat was manned by a crew of two, Brown was known as the "admiral" and his friend the "commodore."

On one of their cruises down the river the wind died down.

"Scratch the mast, 'Commodore,'" called the "admiral"—"Scratch the mast. It never fails to bring the wind."

The "commodore" scratched the mast as ordered. And, if the "commodore" is to be believed, the wind arose and the catboat sailed on at a pretty clip.

FIVE CONVICTS FACE ACTION IN PRISON RIOTING

Held in Solitary Confinement Pending Probe by Utah Officials

Salt Lake City—(P)—Five convicts were in solitary confinement today as officials investigated a riot at the state penitentiary yesterday in which one prisoner was killed and several guards and other convicts were injured.

Warden W. E. Davis quelled the outbreak by refusing the bargain with the mutineers as policemen, deputy sheriffs and firemen swarmed the walls to beat down any whole-sale attempt by the convicts to escape.

The warden expressed the opinion six or seven other prisoners were implicated. The group was armed with knives and crude bombs made of sections of pipe. Only one bomb, however, exploded.

The men held as the ring leaders are Robert H. Elliott and Delbert Webster Pfoutz, serving life terms for slaying an officer in a jail break at Moab, Utah; Raymond Underwood, F. C. Hertel, described by authorities as the "brains" of the plot, serving a term for assault with a deadly weapon and robbery, and George Day.

Elliott and Pfoutz, accused of attacking a guard, face death under the wording of the state law if they are convicted. The provision applies in cases of convicts' serving life sentences.

Louis Deathridge, known to police as a former St. Louis gangster, who with Underwood dashed to the prison wall and started up a crude rope and cloth ladder, was shot to death by L. W. McTabish, tower guard. Underwood was injured slightly by another shot.

Their fate, officials said, broke the spirit of the rioters who only a few minutes previously had lured C. L. Christensen and D. L. Rees, guards, and Deputy Warden Wilford M. Giles, into the cell block and demanded that they instruct the wall guards to throw away the guns.

All three were injured by the convict when they refused to comply. Christensen suffered a head injury and a stab wound.

Soon afterward Warden Davis arrived at the cell block and demanded that the prisoners surrender. He told them to come out peacefully or they would be taken out. A few moments later they filed into the yard.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

New York (CPA) — The

one man in Italy who opposed Mussolini and remained in power is Dino Grandi. The youngest of all foreign ministers, advancing disarmament at Geneva, he is a dynamic figure of youth and energy, and some day Il Duce's mantle may fall on him.

Behind his square-cut, black assyrian beard — a parody of statesmanship which camouflages his youth — there are schemes and dreams and plenty of action. Busy, bulky, Rooseveltian in his physical aspect — to a happy lacker — in the European scrimmage, he plays a line position, opening wide holes by his plunging, roaring tactics. In this manner he easily routed out the demure old Scialoja and became foreign minister himself.

After Mussolini had seized power, young Grandi, then 23, made a vigorous speech in which he maintained that Mussolini's program had ditched certain syndicalist and democratic features properly belonging in Fascism. He was ahead of Mussolini in visiting the king and informing him that 100,000 black-shirts were ready to march on Rome. Subsequently, he opposed Il Duce on several occasions and the dictator seemed to like it. In 1923 Grandi was elected to parliament. He became known as "the eye of Mussolini," and his advance was unretarded. He was a lawyer and journalist from Mordano, near Bologna, Mussolini's district.

Keynote for the third international conference on bituminous coal, to be held in Pittsburgh, will be Myron C. Taylor, one of the busiest and most versatile of great American industrialists, and probably the least spotlighted. Many years ago, a European artist painted a portrait of Mr. Taylor and it still serves for press copy. Only in his public addresses does the chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation reveal himself to the public. With his associate, the late George F. Baker, he was the country's leading publicity shunter.

Mr. Taylor's preoccupations have been law, textiles, banking, railroads, insurance, steel, finance—in fact everything in the industrial symphony from the brasses to the wood winds.

In 1928, succeeding Judge E. H. Gary, he became a member of the triumvirate ruling United States Steel. His greatest financial coup was the $2,000,000,000 merger of the Guaranty trust company and the bank of Commerce.

Born in Lyons, New York, Mr. Taylor was graduated from Cornell. He started practicing law, but soon bought himself a tidy little string of textile mills in Boston and quickly branched out into almost everything. He looks like a judge. His public pronouncements are usually optimistic and he has no misgivings about the economic status quo.

Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York power authority, announcing public hearings on the St. Lawrence development, has a way of bringing about a show-down wherever he sits in, with spirited hostilities attendant thereon. Governor Roosevelt already has the makings of an old-fashioned argument in the affair of the Hoover letter which got sidetracked and it happens that his present power boss is a fighter, rather than a diplomat, incidentally at the opposite pole from President Hoover in everything even remotely associated with power development.

Governor Roosevelt was lambasted by old-line newspapers when, last year, he appointed the militant labor lawyer to the power chairmanship. Outside of Samuel Untermyer, Frank P. Walsh has been engaged in more big rough and tumble legal fights, with economic and social implications, than any other American lawyer. He has chairman of Taft's commission on industrial relations, and, roving Rockefeller and others, drew more cheers and jeers than any other headliner of the day—according to the viewpoint of the onlookers. He successfully defended Foster and the other communists accused of criminal syndicalism, in Michigan, in 1923. He arrived in New York from Kansas City a few years ago and clicked in easily and naturally in professional and political goings on. Around 60 years old, his favorite diversion is dancing and he is impressively neat and limber at this pastime. He is one of the outstanding defenders of the under dog in America.

ONLY 1 REACTOR FOUND AMONG 4,651 CATTLE

Only one reactor was found among 4,651 head of Outagamie-co cattle which were retested for tuberculosis in the week ending Aug. 29, according to a report received by Gus Sell, county agent. There were 237 herds inspected, according to the report prepared by Dr. W. R. Winner of the state department of agriculture. Dr. Winner is in charge of the retest which started in the county July 13 and will continue through fall until all of the county's approximately 50,000 head of cattle are inspected.

Up to date the inspectors have tested 1,845 herds with 27,708 head of cattle and have found only 23 reactors. This means less than one reactor in 1,000 head of cattle.

ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Oshkosh—(P)—Joseph Larson, of Calumet-co, was at liberty today under $1,000 bond pending hearing next Monday on a perjury charge resulting from his trial here on charges of violating the gill net law. A jury found him guilty of the latter charge after 15 minutes' deliberation.

Eagles Pay Tribute To 2 Members

BETWEEN 250 and 300 persons attended the banquet given by the local aerie of Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday night at Eagle hall in honor of Judge Fred V. Heinemann and Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede. Tributes to Judge Heinemann and Assemblyman Schmiede for their work in the campaign for the old age pension bill which began 10 years ago were given by Victor H. Manhardt, Milwaukee, state trustee and a former member of the old age pension committee; Edwin Dove, Beaver Dam, past state president; Dr. W. J. Doyle, Fond du Lac, state president; and Harry R. McLogan, Milwaukee, state organizer. Short talks were given by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., chairman of the program committee; Fred Bachman, city treasurer and a member of the program committee; Albert G. Koch and Charles Foss, past president; and Lloyd Hawes, Fond du Lac, charter member of the local aerie.

Judge O'Donnell Speaks
Judge Thomas O'Donnell, Kansas City, Mo., a representative of the organization department, who was the speaker of the evening, paid his respects to the honored guests and discussed the various humanitarian movements which the Eagles have sponsored and which have become laws, namely, the workmen's compensation act, mothers' or widows' pensions, and the old age pension.

He outlined the present bill for the stabilization of employment, and explained in detail that machinery is one of the prime causes of the present depression, since the machine produces from three to seven times more material with from 20 to 30 percent less men. The bill, introduced in both houses of Congress through the efforts of the Eagle lodge, asks for a federal commission, and if successful in its passage will work on the principle of the federal reserve banking and the interstate commerce commission.

Judge O'Donnell announced that beginning Sept. 15, one of the largest membership drives in the history of the order will take place throughout the entire country in honor of Conrad H. Mann, who is completing 25 years of active service in the order. He is a life member of the Milwaukee aerie and is a past grand secretary and past grand president of the order. He is also a past chief auditor and chief organizer. He resides in Kansas City, Mo. This drive will be known as the Silver Jubilee Drive for Conrad H. Mann, and has as its goal an increase of 250,000 members. Each member will receive a letter explaining the drive in detail.

Wheeler Presides

Judge Heinemann presented a new American flag to the order. Community singing was led by Robert Connelly and J. M. Van Rooy, and musical numbers were presented by the orchestra. The drum corps and marching club assisted in ushering and serving.

Changes Of Atmosphere Help Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I don't like eggs, Aunt Carrie." "You don't like eggs, Junior? That's too bad. Well, don't eat them."

Junior looked somewhat surprised but as Aunt Carrie turned her attention elsewhere and chatted about the guests that were to come to town that day, and how the weather would be just right for the parade, and the new people who had come to the cottage at the corner, he fell to toying with his cereal. He had eaten very little of that and fully expected somebody to exclaim in horror, "Why, Junior, you haven't eaten your cereal," and was astonished to the depths of his empty stomach to have instead a brisk, "Now Junior, if you have finished, I'm ready. We start for the depot right now. Car ready, Smith?"

To Junior's surprise he was hustled away empty. All morning he was carried from where he was to where he had not been before, and by luncheon time he was famished. He cast a wary eye about the table, opened his mouth to say he didn't like tomato juice and, catching a glimpse of Aunt Carrie's animated countenance, closed it again. He drank the glassful of red juice and said no syllable of discontent. He was hungry. Plain hungry, and he wanted to eat.

Once or twice he slipped during his two weeks, stay, but when he was promptly told, "Never mind. Don't eat it," and offered nothing instead, he decided to eat and be full rather than refuse and go empty.

"Thanks so much Carrie. He looks wonderfully improved. Did you have any trouble about his eating? I was so afraid you might find it hard to feed him, you know. He has such a finicky appetite," said mother upon her return.

"Finicky? I never saw it. He ate what he liked. No trouble at all. Perfectly healthy child with no nonsense about him. I'll take him again any time you want to leave him with me. I rather like him, you know. Rather nice to have a little nephew to tote about."

It very often happens that a change of environment helps a spoiled child. The audience is not trained to respond. He does not get the thrill of their concern, their attention, their service. The loss leaves him feeling rather helpless and limp. They have to change their tactics in order to get along at all. The old habit is left hanging in air and a new one is initiated.

Now this works bothways. When you send a child away from home make certain that he goes to a place and associates with those who will not be likely to stimulate him to initiate a poor habit. That has happened. The new scene sets an impression firmly. It is hard to eradicate an idea that has been set under the stimulus of new sensations to a new audience.

When a child goes away from home he is certain to get new impressions. Upon his return make the most of them. Cherish the good ones and carry them along. Hold fast to whatever good he gained. A vacation from home and family is one of the best ways to train a finicky eater. Choose your place and person wisely and the rest comes of itself.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"Why not question Miss Mer-ryman? That will estab-lish proof that she cer-tainly is innocent," Thomas An-drews said.

Establish proof! It would do any-thing but that!

"Certainly, I'll answer any ques-tions that you want me to," Sue an-swered. Flash of blue-black eyes. Dangerous. Dusky rose deepening in her cheeks. Her body slim and taut, like a smoky blue flame. "Ask me anything." Suddenly she let go. "But you don't believe that I'm guilt-y, do you?"

"Certainly not," The elder An-drews again.

"Anyone who does it... Oh, this is terrible. I'll answer for Sue Mer-ryman. Isn't she the girl I'm en-gaged to marry? You ask a fellow to come to a party and then..." Dr. Barnes broke off shortly.

"How long have you been engaged to Dr. Barnes?" the voice of Jim Young interrupted.

"Not very long," Sue answered. She couldn't lie. The elder Andrews knew better. A lie would only injure her.

"Had you known him long before that?"

"Just since I've been in town." Her voice didn't falter. Her breath was coming quickly though. She could hear her heart racing under the folds of chiffon.

"How long have you been in town?"

"Just a couple of weeks."

"Humph!" Expressive. Like a conclusion.

"How long have you known Dr. Barnes?"

"Just a couple of weeks!" Sue flung it out, and faced the young lawyer defiantly. She would let them all hear the answers they wanted to hear. Then she would let them all apologize for the manner in which they were acting. Circum-stantial evidence was against her. She flung her head higher.

"Why did you get a job in his office?"

"Because I was broke and needed work."

"Do you live alone?"

"Hold off, Young, this is going too far!" Dr. Barnes had been standing, ready to jump. "Another question like that and I'll give you the one I was reserving for this liar in the corner."

Sue, fatigued with the ways of lawyers, knew that Jim Young, in-terested in the courtroom side of his practice, had forgotten what he was doing. He wasn't pur-posing putting her on a torture rack. To him she was a witness to be interviewed. He was merely doing his job. Even while she sensed this she decided that he might be ruth- less even while he was fair. She even found a fraction of a second to wonder how strong his friend-ship was with Jack. As a friend of Harry's he was undoubtedly a friend of Jack's. If he learned... or rather when he learned... how harsh he had been; how would he feel?

"Yes, I live alone," Sue answered.

Turn-over Collar

3311
BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON
Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson
Furnished with Every Pattern

Ready for school! Well I guess! It's so thoroughly smart and typi-cally French. The front panel ex-tends into the circular skirt at the front and makes it very easy to fashion.

Isn't the neckline smart with turn-over collar and bow tie?

A fine striped woolen tweed effect in rich brown made the original. The pockets, belt and sleeve cuffs were vivid red woolen. The tie in crepe de chine matched the plain red woolen. The collar of white pique was made detachable so as to be readily laundered.

Style No. 3311 may be had in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Sizes 3 requires 12 yards 54-inch, with 3 yard 27-inch for collar and 3 yard 35-inch for contrasting.

Wool jersey, rayon flannel, cotton broadcloth prints and tweed-like cot-ton are smart.

Don't envy the woman who dress-es well and keeps her children well-dressed. Just send for your copy

"A friend of mine who did live with me married my brother a few days ago, so I'm alone."

"Was his name Jack?" Thomas Andrews asked.

"No," Sue answered steadily.

"How many brothers have you?" lead.

"One," Sue answered, looking directly at Thomas Andrews, whose eyes narrowed.

OAT MEAL IS SPLENDID TO SOFTEN WATER

BY ALICIA HART
Among the simple beautifiers of ten overlooked for expensive but no more efficient agents is oatmeal.

You have been told that oatmeal is a splendid, sturdy breakfast food. Perhaps you do not know how to use it as an adjunct to your dressing table.

Rubbed dry on the arms and neck, oatmeal will soften and whiten the skin. One pound of oatmeal boiled in a gallon of water makes a milky liquid that will soften hard water.

For an oatmeal bath, make cheesecloth bags about five inches square and fill with dry oatmeal. One of these bags will give a tub of tepid water the milky appearance that indicates the water has been softened. The effect of the oatmeal on the skin is altogether bene-ficial and cannot harden the tender-est face or arms.

Real milk is an astringent and should never be used except for that purpose. It is probable that the "milk baths" in which famous beauties of the past were said to indulge were really baths in which oatmeal or bran gave the water a milky appearance.

If it's bleaching your skin needs you can whiten it with any of the following ordinary kitchen supplies: lemon juice, tomato juice, cucumber juice, honey or buttermilk. An un-usually effective bleach is made by adding the juice of one lemon to a cup of sweet milk. Apply this, let it remain on the face for several minutes, and then remove with warm water.

Skin that is sensitive should be treated with a lotion after such a bleaching treatment. Olive oil or olive oil mixed with rose water has the desired effect.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

PHILANDERING SWEETHEART NOT GOOD MARRIAGE MATERIAL—ADVICE TO WOR-RIED FATHER

Dear Virginia Vane: For a couple of years I have been in love with a boy who has treated me strange-ly, to say the least. At times he seems to be mad about me, says he can't live without me, we must mar-ry in the near future, etc., etc.—then suddenly becomes tremendously attracted by a married friend of mine and hangs about her for weeks. This friend of mine is flirtatious and is attracted to the boy I love. Every once in a while, though, her conscience bothers her and he comes back to me with renewed protesta-tions of love. Can there be any sincerity in him? He has shown interest in other married women from time to time, even while he is al-most engaged to me.

DOLLY.

Looks as if you picked out a born philanderer to love, Dolly, and per-haps it would be better if you just came to regard him as the Eternal Boy Friend and not the Probable Husband. What you say about him seems to indicate that though he may love you in his queer way more than anybody else, he is ut-terly incapable of loving you to the utter exclusion of everyone else.

The young fellow who hangs around married women isn't giving signs of serious intentions about anything. He is saying as plainly as can be that he wants a flirtation for his own sake. He finds it safe and comfortable to indulge in a brief flurvy with a married woman who cannot possibly lead him to the altar—and that if, in the meantime between such affairs, he prefers one girl to all others, he is certainly not to be taken seriously.

So that if you're a sensible girl, you'll read the handwriting out of wall, and just tuck away out of sight those dreams of a future life-long happiness with him. If he were seriously considering any such future, he'd find ways to indicate his intentions other than impassioned speeches and flirtations with mar-ried sirens.

Don't give up anyone else for him and don't arrange your life to suit him. If it amuses you to see him and you can do it without suffer-ing, why go ahead and have him for a nice imitation suitor. But you must use your common sense enough to realize that he isn't the right ma-terial for matrimony. So long as you understand that perfectly, you can do as you please with this guy Lothario.

Encourage a Down-And-Out Son-in-Law

WORRIED FATHER: For your daughter's sake, why not give the young man another chance? It's hard for you, of course to see your only child rather thrown away on a man who is almost a failure. But you say, yourself that he means well—that he's tried hard since he mar-ried her, to measure up to your standards, and make good.

Can't you see that so long as she loves him, she won't be happy with anyone else—and that the greatest kindness you can show her is to train this boy, give him every chance, and set him on the right way. It's too late to cry now over the fact that they were both too young to marry. Your chief con-cern is your daughter's happiness and you can help greatly toward this by some honest help for the boy.

So far you've rather stood off and criticized everything possible. You've been careful to point out your son-in-law's every mistake. In many ways you may have discour-aged him more than you know. Why not stop that policy and begin a new one?

Don't consider throwing him over, because he hasn't shown the sound business sense which you wanted from him. He's younger, he's un-trained, he's rather willful. As an older man you ought to be willing to help him, if only for your daughter's sake. Take a more broad-minded tolerant view of the matter, and I honestly believe you'll get more happiness and joy out of the whole affair than you ever believed possible.

MY NEIGHBOR Says —

Never sift bran when adding it to mixtures. The rough part is that which is desired.

When making plum pudding the cook should allow three hours for boiling it, and take great care that the water in the pot never once ceases to boil.

Whip cream in a pitcher. It whips more quickly than in an open bowl and with less spatter.

To wash chamois skins which have been used for window washing, soak for five minutes in warm soap suds. Wash through several suds and rinse well in tepid water. Do not squeeze, but shake out as much wa-ter as possible and hang on line to dry.

If in doubt as to whether or not a turkey is thoroughly cooked, pierce the leg. If the blood is a pale pink the turkey is done.

Lemons packed in dry, clean salt will keep for several months. They can also be kept in a jar of water, renewing the water every day.

It is easier to carry wood from the cellar to the fireplace if it is tied in a stout piece of canvas.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of pills, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the roll label. Beware of substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

London —The spiritualist church has done away with the "love and honor" as well as the "obey" in the marriage ceremony. From now on girls married in the church are not bound by the old marriage oath. An- other odd thing about the spiritual-ist ceremony is that the sentence, "Those whom God hath joined to- gether let no man put asunder," has also been omitted.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

DEFENSIVE BID AND FORCING PASS

Most Contract players are sufficiently familiar with the procedure of Contract bidding so that they quickly recognize the bids considered Forcing. Forcing bids are such as require a response from partner. Their use with hands of many types is everywhere recognized as essential in order that the proper bid shall be reached. Opening Forcing bids carry with them an element of risk, as by their use the contract may be too high as to risk defeat. It is for this reason that the standard of hands strong enough to force partner to respond has been made so high.

However, familiar players may be with the usual types of Forcing bid, there are few who would ever recognize a pass as a Forcing bid. When the pass becomes a Force is at a stage in the bidding when it is certain that the partnership can make a score on the hand either by penalizing their opponents through collecting a penalty for their overbid, or by securing a game or Slam at the best declaration in the combined hands. In the hand which illustrates the text of this article, North's pass of West's Defensive bid of six hearts is a pass which requires a response from his partner. Of course, North knows that six hearts cannot be made and the one question is whether a bid of seven can be made by the North and South partnership or whether they must be content with the penalty collected for defeating the adverse bid. South in this case is in a much better position to decide the question than North, for he knows his own untrammelled in his decision. If North should double six hearts it would be a statement to his partner that he was so much in doubt of the ability to score a Grand Slam with the combined hands that he believed the Double Slam or double the adverse bid. It is an interesting situation and the illustration given is very illuminating.

Neither side vulnerable; West Dealer.

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

1—A Slam try, indicating no heart losers.

2—As East must be short in diamonds this looks like a good sacrifice.

3—A Forcing pass. North knows that diamonds cannot be made, but by passing, lets South know that a Grand Slam is still a possibility. South must either Double or bid.

4—South decides to try for the probable Grand Slam (1500 points) in preference to a sure set of 3—a total of 400. In the play, South went down one, as after West showed three diamonds, he elected to play West for two spades and either one club or no clubs. On the second round of spades, West overruled. The hand can be made by a different line of play.

Dr. Harry P. Davis, Early Leader In Radio, Is Dead

Pittsburgh, Pa. —(P)—Dr. Harry Phillips Davis, known as "the father of radio broadcasting," died at his home today after an illness of several months.

He was chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting company, a vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and a director in numerous other corporations. He was 63 years old.

In the experimental shack which housed KDKA, Pittsburgh, the world's first broadcasting station, he envisioned the growth of radio and had a large part in rapid development of broadcast equipment.

The world's first public broadcast was when KDKA transmitted presidential election returns of 1920. In 1926 the National Broadcasting company was organized with Davis as its chairman and M. H. Aylesworth as its president.

As an electrical engineer Davis was responsible for improvements in railway control, transmission, development of measuring and meter equipment and circuit breakers.

He directed the world's first single phase electrification of a railroad, accomplished on the New York, New Haven and Hartford system.

He was born in Somersworth, N. H., and was graduated from Worcester Polytechnic institute. In 1892 he married Miss Agnes L. Taylor of Worcester, Mass. His widow and their two children, Mrs. Louise Rockwell and Henry Ronson Davis, survive him.

ALLEN'S WOODS SEEN AS IDEAL FOR CITY PARK

New London Legion, Pleased
With Success of Plot,
Contemplates Plan

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The need of a suitable gathering place for use in the case of large meetings has brought to the public notice the possibilities of Allen's woods. This tract of land, located near the city, has during the past summer been used for two such occasions, the first being the farmers picnic and the last being the recent American Legion homecoming. Comment points out the woods as a place rich in possibilities for public use and with the erection of the high school no other nearby tract presents the space necessary for use in the gatherings of this kind. Members of the Legion have expressed themselves strongly in favor of using the woods for all future events which can be held out of doors. Far removed from the residential section of the city the dust and noise is less annoying than when public affairs were held on the new high school tract. Deeply wooded in spots and low land possesses all the excellent potentialities of a parkway.

Suggestions have been made showing that water from the Wolf river, not far distant, could be diverted for use in bathing or boating. As the place stands it abounds with natural bird and small game life, and with further attention it could be well stocked and retained as a wild life sanctuary.

The idea of purchasing the tract, it is pointed out is probably out of the question from the city's point of view. However there remains no place aside from this wood where picnics or similar affairs can be held and the time must arrive when some solution will be necessary, it is said. The spread of the town, it was also said, in this direction, since with the erection of the school property in the southwestern part of the city will become more valuable as building sites. A final suggestion was made that the road to the woods be laid straight down W. Washington-st, past the high school and the athletic field, thus eliminating travel through property on W. Beacon-ave.

Wendlandt and Robert Putnam; George Ribnary and E. J. Mc Mahon; J. J. Mc Mahon, J. Burns and W. J. Butler; Charles Pfeifer and G. H. Putnam.

A tournament for fathers and sons will be an event of Sunday morning in which about 14 are expected to play. This will start at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Vander Loop pitched a good ball but his support was none of the best. The Chuters outthit the Bay men 9 to 8 but Chriske the Bay pitcher was given great support turning in several brilliant plays.

In the game which held the Chuters down, C. Versteegen was the Chuters best star with two doubles and a single scoring one run and driving in the other. On Labor Day the local team took on Darby with a patched-up lineup. Darby took the lead in the third inning with three runs out of four hits. The Chuters came back to score a run in the fourth. V. Hart took the center and the last of the fifth took the lead with two more markers. Darby tied the score in the sixth only to have the Chuters come back in their half of the seventh with one run. La May doubled to center, Kostka drove a three bagger to right center scoring the lead again. Kostka scoring on a hit and run play, Jansen then went to pitch for the Chuters and held Darby scoreless the remainder of the game. KIWANIS CLUB HEARS TALK ON PENSION PLAN

Judge Fred V. Heinemann
Tells How System Operates in Outagamie-co

Special to Post-Crescent

Chilton—At the regular meeting of the Chilton Kiwanis club at Hotel Chilton Tuesday an address was given on the subject of Old Age Pensions by County Judge Fred Heinemann of Appleton. The rapid displacement of men by modern improved machinery, the preference given by employers to younger over older men in the manipulation of high speed machinery, the lengthened span of human life consequent upon the advances of medical science, the high cost to parents of educating and starting young men in business and professional life, the decline in the habits of thrift and the loss of retired persons of their life savings in bad investments and stock market gambling, all are forces making the matter of old age pensions one of the leading questions of the present day, said Judge Heinemann.

The annual cost per person under the old age pension is very much less perhaps not 50 per cent of the cost under the charity system, he pointed out, moreover the former system the person served gets a better choice of the factors that go to make for contentment and happiness than is usually possible under the latter system.

The speaker's experience with the administration of the old age pension law made him feel that it is the most satisfactory form of poor relief, he said. The administration of this law, said the speaker, is not without its problems. There are many who have no claim to the benefits of the law who are constantly striving to be recipients of its provisions. The signs of the times point to an ever widening sphere in the adoption of the old age pension. The United States, China and India are not the only nations not having some provisions in the shape of a pension for the aged who are unable to support themselves, declared the speaker.

Notre Dame Loses 14 Veterans But Anderson Says "What Of It?"

NEW COACH TO HAVE PLENTY OF MATERIAL

Irish Authorities Take Inventory and Are Moderately Optimistic

EDITOR'S NOTE: What of Notre Dame without Rockne? This is the first of a series of exclusive articles in which may be found an answer to that question.

BY JOSEPH S. PETRITZ (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)
NOTRE DAME—When Notre Dame's football team steps onto the field Oct. 3 to open its season, it will be without 14 veterans who helped to win the 1930 national championship.

Seven are gone from the line and seven from the backfield. At least three were popular choices for all-American honors and six were varsity players. Yet, Senior Coach Anderson is at least moderately optimistic about the team's chances. He predicts that Notre Dame will have one of the finest lines in its history if present prospects materialize. The backfield he says, will be weaker than last year, but they don't have to be as good because of the strong forward wall.

Guards Are Lost
 Both guards, Tom Kassus and Bert Metzger, the latter a popular all-American choice, are lost. "But what of this?" asks Anderson. "Last year we lost Jack Cannon and Johnny Law and at the same time we have Norm Greeney, Jim Harris, Bob Teriak, Bill Pierce, Nurdy Hoffman and Harry Wunsch." All six are short, stocky and fast.

At center Captain Tommy Yarr. Frank Butler, Tom Gorman and John Rogers are all back. They appeared in the order named last year and Anderson has no worry at this position.

Frank Leahy and Dick Donoghue, varsity left and right tackles at the start of the season, have also been graduated. Both were injured early in the year, however, and their places went to Al Culver and Joe Kurth, who are back.

Three ends received their diplomas last June. Captain Tom Conley and George Vilk at right, and Johnny O'Brien at left. All will be hard to replace, but Anderson thinks he has the men for the job. Both Ed Kosky and Paul Host are back at left end and will probably continue with the first and second string, respectively. Dick Mahoney is available at right end.

Coming to the backfield, Anderson has real cause for worry. Only Marcy Schwartz is back. Although Notre Dame has never had what might be truly called a one man team, the left half usually stars. Bernie Leahy, second string man, has been lost to this position, but Mike Koken is back.

George Melinkovitch, a Toole, Utah, lad, may step into Leahy's shoes for he possesses all the characteristics of a great triple threat star. At any rate he will give Koken a battle for the privilege of understudying Schwartz. Frank LaBorne, another sophomore, is slated to travel with the first squad.

The withdrawal of Joe Savoldi and the graduation of Larry Mullins and Al Howard has necessitated the shifting of Nick Lukats, left half back, to fullback. Dan Hanley, reserve last year who was dropped at the half because of scholastic difficulties, has attended night school and summer school and has been restored to the good graces of the faculty.

Fritz Staab, Steve Banas and Jim Leonard, the latter a freshman, will supplement the other two varsity prospects. While Lukats will probably start with the first string because of the jump he got on Hanley in spring practice. Hanley is not far out of the picture and may advance to the varsity.

Commencement cleaned house for Notre Dame at right half when Marty Brill, Paul (Bucky) O'Connor and Clarence Kaplan all went into coaching positions. Joe Sheeketski is the only letterman back for the position. Card (Stumpy) Cronin, quarterback last year, has been slated to right half with his 155 pounds of dynamite block ability should win him recognition.

Frank Canideo was the only quarterback lost by the diploma route, but Anderson would have been willing to lose every other signal caller on the squad if he had this all-American field general back. His graduation leaves another wide open position. Charlie Jastwick, shock troop man last year, was being groomed by Rockne for the post and seems the logical successor. He can pass, block and kick and his choice of plays leaves little to be desired.

TOMORROW—Schedules and Prospects.

Pro Grid Teams More Than Match For Colleges--Perry

BY LAWRENCE PERRY (Copyright, 1931)
NEW YORK—(CFA)—The New York Giants, professional football team, will go into action against the Orange pros on Sept. 20 and then will follow a long schedule in which the gridiron leaguers of New York, Chicago, Detroit, Youngstown, Green Bay and elsewhere will endeavor to take advantage of the public enthusiasm over inter-collegiate football.

Last season saw some improvement in attendance at professional games, but it was not a sufficient increase to warrant any feeling that organized football shows symptoms of revivifying in course of time the intercollegiate game.

On the other hand, so far as technical excellence and sheer physical power are concerned, this writer feels the admission must be made—and he is the last one who would wish to make it—that the better pro gridiron outfits would be considerably more than a match for any of the leading university teams. If professional football ever becomes a menace to the college game, it will be because the colleges of the country do not follow the Western conference in recognizing it potentially as such and taking all possible measures to defeat its purposes.

Play Brutally Hard
 And so no leeway is done the college game in blinking the fact that the big commercial football eleven are completely organized and superbly drilled. The prevailing idea that they do not play hard may no longer be entertained, the fact is they play brutally hard ball. In one respect this is a hopeful feature so far as college football is concerned, inasmuch as many collegians who go from college gridirons to the pro fields find two years of battering quite enough for them. Not a member of the 1929 Holy Cross back field which played for Newark last fall will go in for pro ball this fall and such men as John Law, formerly of Notre Dame, Beatty of Princeton and others feel that they cannot weather the rigors of the professional schedule and at the same time carry on their business enterprises.

Many eyes were opened when a team of former Notre Dame stars organized by Knute Rockne, which included the famous four horsemen, went up against the New York Giants last winter. It is true that Rockne all-stars eleven was hastily organized and hardly an outfit to stand as the representative of high class college football against a pro eleven. At the same time the efficient manner in which the Giants rolled up the four horsemen and the seven mules, the power they displayed and their general finesse, left one with a strong impression that in real conflict against whatever college eleven they would have broken it into bits and then scored practically at will.

But the pro game will fall to stand in any way as a fearsome rival to the intercollegiate sport for various reasons, including the fact that football depends so largely upon the spirit which the college following gives it. In itself football is a sport whose intricacies are not to be understood without considerable study. Nine-tenths of the spectators at any college game merely follow the ball. When you are interested in the college that is advancing the ball you get a great kick out of even a three-yard gain. But when a team in which you are not interested does it, you are left pretty cold unless the advance is accomplished in a spectacular manner. Which accounts for the comparatively small following of pro teams in centers where college games are played. The mercenary game finds its place and does well in quarters where the public seldom sees a college game and local pride in the pro outfit is aroused.

Now that they have been gotten off the chest, the citizens for the most part have been surprised to discover that the new ball, after all, is an improvement.

It does not cure a slice of a fever, neither does it go unerringly for the cup like a movie horse for the barn after a hard day's run.

Nevertheless it is bigger, therefore more hittable, furnishes better lies through the fairways and behaves about as well as could be expected with proper treatment, wind and weather permitting.

For these and reasons of state, the U. S. G. A. consider a good job has been done, whether the Royal and Ancient or Great Britain, Scotland and Ireland agree with our side or not.

The complaints against the new ball have been scanned and found most inconclusive or contradictory. Experiments with varying sizes and weights have not so far developed a better combination than the present official ball.

That Balloon Ball

It can be pretty well accepted as fact that the so-called "balloon" golf ball, adopted this year by the U. S. G. A., is here to stay, at least for 1932 and probably indefinitely.

Like any innovation affecting so many citizens, who reserve the constitutional privilege of squawking loudly and at length, the new 1.68-1.55 sphere provoked several million words of debate.

FWD GRIDDERS PREP FOR FALL SEASON

Clintonville Aggregation Again Will Have Many Vets Performing

Clintonville—The string grind of football practice began in earnest at the FWD football club this week. Twenty-five men turned out in suits for the first practice.

Coach Fredenberg, who has piloted the FWD aggregation through the six years the club has been in existence, again takes the trainer's whip and has put the boys through. Setting up exercises, goose steps and sprints on the cinder track.

Practically all players of last year's team reported for training. The team has a few veterans of a half dozen seasons. Pete Dahm who holds the record of playing in all of the 29 games played by the Clintonville team since the club was organized in 1926, was out. Pete has not missed a practice in six years and has only been out of the 29 games only seven minutes when some one sat on his head.

Mac McCauley, captain of last year's team, answered "here" when the roll of 1931 candidates was called. Mac is out to hold down the center position.

Other candidates who have had a baptism of fire on the gridiron for the local club in previous seasons include Abel Brown, Joe Swoboda, Walter Kruse, Bill Merrill, Elder Schorr, Frank Sinkewicz, Frank Joswiak, Bud O'Connor, Bill Elandt, Sherman Flowers, Ludwigson, Art O'Connor, Harold Danner, Clyde Bunker and Norbert Kilmer.

Secretary and treasurer, Heinie Koch, also begins his six season handling the checkbook for the local club. Heinie has managed to make both ends meet in the club finances, which is no small problem as the club is self-supporting organization entirely independent of the truck company by whose name it is known. The club, however, is made up exclusively of employees of the FWD Truck Company.

Noteworthy absent from the veterans of 1931 candidates is Lloyd Pinkowsky, the 1928 captain, who playing with the squad for the past five years.

SERVICE CLUB GOLF STARS IN TOURNNEY

Kaukauna Scene of First Meet; Play 18 Holes Medal Play

Golfing members of 35 service clubs of Northeastern Wisconsin will be in Kaukauna Saturday, Sept. 12, showing their golfing skill over the sportsmanlike course of the Kaukauna Country club in the first annual Northeastern Wisconsin Service club golf tournament. Kiwanis, Rotary, Lion and Optimist clubs of this section of the state have been invited and most of them will be represented.

The test will be 18-hole medal play, with the winning club receiving a beautiful plaque and the medalist a fine silver trophy.

The committee of Kaukauna Rotarians in charge of the first N. E. W. club tournament are making arrangements to royally entertain service club golfers who take part in the meet. The course of the Kaukauna Country club is in first class shape, one major tournament having already been shot over it this summer, the Wisconsin Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament held early in July. A number of those who played in the J. A. C. meet will be back again testing its hazards in the service club event.

That interest in the coming tourney is running high is evidenced by the number of out of town players who have been putting in practice licks at the Kaukauna course anticipating entry in the service club meet.

At a meeting following Saturday's tourney the city to entertain the second N. E. W. Service club will be selected.

Must Rebuild Bruins For Next Season's N. L. Race

BY JOHN B. FOSTER (Copyright, 1931)

NEW YORK—(CFA)—Without attaining the estimated possible maximum strength in the Chicago Cubs of 1931 it was evident some weeks ago that they would not win the championship this year.

Rogers Hornsby, their manager, fought on, hoping against the unfavorable events that were arraying themselves against him. Even until the last trip of the Cubs to the east was finished he thought there would be a chance for Chicago to come through, if not in first place, in second, but now he has changed his mind.

To come out first or second he needed to obtain a maximum return from his players. He failed to get it and finally, his patience being exhausted, he exploded a small bomb under the sturdy feet of Hack Wilson.

An eventful life for Wilson in baseball. Once the Giants had him. They played him against Washington when the New York team met Washington in the world series, and with an opportunity to do something glorious for the Giants, Hack struck out.

That did not make him a past grand in the McGraw lodge. Yet, according to the reports from the New York club, which sent him to Toledo he would have been recalled by New York if something hadn't happened. It has been rumored that the happening was a clerical blunder in the Giants' office by which proper measures were not taken to protect the player for New York.

Liked By Cub Fans
 Chicago got him and he soon grew into great popularity with the Chicago fans. They liked his ruddy face, his plump figure and his batting. They made him a hero when he set his home run record with the Cubs in 1929.

This, too, in spite of the fact that his fielding in that much scrambled game in the world series in Philadelphia by which he did his full share to help along the cyclone, would have destroyed the liking for almost any player in baseball.

Wilson's record in 1931 has been almost pitiful. Stephenson, long playing on his nerve, was unable to stand the strain longer. Hornsby found that his feet were not sound. Grimm has been the best batter on the team, but is slow. There has been no third baseman, despite the fact that Bell has tried to come back. CHARITY GAMES AT CHICAGO, NEW YORK DRAW LARGE CROWDS

Giants Beaten by Yankees but Cubs Whitewash White Sox

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
COMPLETELY out of the pennant race but hopeful of gaining a first division berth in the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates have begun a brilliant spurt just in time to do some serious damage to the chances of the teams they meet.

Triumphing over Brooklyn yesterday, the Pirates extended their latest winning streak to eight games, their longest of the season and left the Robins in the uncomfortable position of being within half game of mathematical elimination from the struggle for the flag. The defeat put Brooklyn 17 games behind the league leading St. Louis Cardinals with one game to play.

Meine Gives Robins 5 Hits
Before downing Brooklyn 5 to 1 yesterday on a fine pitching performance by Henry Meine, Pittsburgh has given St. Louis a setback by winning three straight and had taken four from Cincinnati. In continuing the streak, Meine held the Robins to five hits while the Waner brothers accounted for three Pittsburgh tallies.

Washington carried off the honors of the American league's only game, downing the Philadelphia Athletics 2 to 1 in a ten inning duel between "General" Al Cravner and Rube Walberg without doing any serious damage to the A's pennant prospects. The victory still left the Senators 13 games behind with only 13 to go. Crowder was the hero of the game after Jimmy Fox's twenty-seventh home run of the year had tied the score in the fourth inning. He held the champions to six hits and drove in the winning run himself with a single in the tenth after Bluege had walked and Spencer had singled.

The two exhibition games, played on an off day for nearly all the major league clubs, netted $104,131.6 for the unemployed of New York and Chicago, brought a victory apiece for the two leagues and apparently proved that it is easier to score with the national league ball than the livelier American league sphere.

GRANT ELIMINATED FROM TENNIS MEET

Frank Shields Forced to Go Five Sets to Defeat Keith Gledhill

Forest Hills, N. Y., (AP)—Before he started in defense of his national singles tennis title, two predications were made about the chances of Johnny Doeg and to a certain extent both have been fulfilled. The first

Yankees beat the Giants 7 to 3, only three of the ten counters were scored with the American league ball in the first five innings while the rest including a homer by Babe Ruth, came in the last four frames.

The results of the comparison were much the same in Chicago, where a crowd of 34,865 saw the Cubs and Charley Root down the White Sox 3 to 0. Not a run was scored with the American league ball and all three in the last half of the game. Root proved himself equally proficient with either, holding the Sox to six hits.

was that, dropped to fifth in the seeding, he stood about as much chance of repeating his 1930 victory as that place indicated; the other that if he got safely past his first few matches his chances would look somewhat better.

Doeg had a close call in his opening match with Eddie Jacobs of Baltimore and fared only a little better against Ned Herndon of New York. With these two struggles behind him, the big title-holder from Newark, N. J., showed a considerably better brand of tennis yesterday when he eliminated Bryan Grant, Jr., the little Atlanta player who had conquered Jacques Brugnon and earned a right to favorable consideration today when he faces Frank X. Shields, tall Davis cup star who is ranked second in the United States. Shields, who lost to Doeg in last year's final, had been playing some of the best tennis seen in the tournament until yesterday when had to go five sets to defeat Keith Gledhill, the inter-collegiate champion from Santa Barbara, Cal. Doeg, on the other hand, had more speed and accuracy than before as he moved easily into the quarter final round.

Montreal—Newsboy Brown, Los Angeles, outpointed Eugene Haut, France, (12).

SEE RECORD CROWD AT FIRST PRO GAME

Appleton Fans Can Purchase Tickets at Roach Sport Shop

Green Bay—Tommy Hughitt, one of the veteran officials of the National Football league, has been assigned by President Joe E. Carr, Columbus, O., to referee the Packer-Cleveland game, which will be played here Sunday afternoon at the City stadium. The kick-off is at 2 p. m.

Working with Hughitt will be "Icky" Erditz of Oshkosh as umpire and Paddy Driscoll of Chicago as head linesman. Both Erditz and Driscoll are new additions to the National league's officiating staff this season.

The Packer management is making arrangements to handle the largest opening game crowd in history. In other seasons, the Green Bay eleven has always pried off the lid with a non-league attraction but this season, due to heavy schedule, the national champions will swing into action with a league tilt, which promises to be bitterly contested, as the Cleveland Bulldogs boast a lineup that should chalk up a number of victories.

Where To Buy Tickets

Break business is reported at the Packer ticket headquarters in the lobby of the Columbus Community club. Other places handling Packer tickets in Green Bay are Bosse's news depot, Dashner's cigar store, Congress billiard room, Schweger's drug store, Lison's drug store, Bel-leau drug store, Joe Felthausen's, North Side Community club and John Synnes.

Tickets can be purchased out of town at the following places: Phillip

SOCCER TEAM COPS ITS FIRST TWO GAMES

Appleton soccer football team displayed great stamina and ability Sunday and Monday when it copped two games, one from Kimberly 5 and 1 and another from Oshkosh, 3 and 2.

The Kimberly game showed the three Scotch forwards to great advantage. The men are Farquhar, Andrews and Gordon, who had the Kimberly defense on edge throughout the fracas. Funk, a now corner in the halfback line played a great game and should be a great help to the Appleton club. Mueller, Boening and Ruebsam also played great ball.

At Oshkosh on Monday, Appleton's forwards again ran wild and with the help of Joe Mueller, fullback, humbled the Saw Dust city team. The two game victory gives the Appleton team a big start on the league soccer season which soon starts.

Americo Polli Chalks Up His Twentieth Victory of the Season

CHICAGO—(AP)—Columbus and Indianapolis have given the statistic sticklers something to worry about with one of the wildest baseball shows in American association history.

In a game, which saw seven pitchers parade to the mound and the showers and a nine run rally fail, Columbus defeated the Indians, 17 to 14, yesterday. So frequent and long were the hits that the total bases for both clubs totaled 48, including 10 doubles, one triple and a pair of home runs.

Columbus led, 16 to 5, when the Indians started their big war dance around the home plate. Before it subsided, nine runs had clattered across the plate but even that wasn't good enough to win. The Red Birds came back with their last run in the eighth inning and it was all over.

The record for most home runs in a game was tied for the eleventh time at three yesterday in the second game of the St. Paul-Milwaukee doubleheader. After Americo Polli of the Brewers had clicked off his twentieth victory of the season to defeat the Saints, 8 to 6, in the first game, Joe Morrissey of the league leaders rapped out three home runs to lead his team to an even break for the day, 5 to 4, in 11 innings. His three round trip clouts came before the game extended into overtime.

A rally that really accomplished things turned up at Minneapolis as the Millers made it two straight

REENFORCE OLD WALL ON SHORE OF MILL CANAL

Approximately 60 Men Employed on Project Near Paper Company

Kaukauna—Approximately 60 men are employed reinforcing the wall along the canal of the Outagamie Paper Co. mill here. Six inches of concrete is being poured on the face and top of the wall raising the water level six inches. C. R. Meyer and Sons Co. are the contractors. The south wall of the canal is being repaired with boards along the lower and center portions. The flumes will be repaired as soon as the water is blocked off. A heap of sediment, 16 feet deep in spots and about 75 yards long, will be removed after the flumes have been repaired. The sediment is now being dumped across the canal to form a coffer dam, allowing the flume repairs. The wall was constructed of stones when the mill was built and in 1915 it was repaired. At the time boards were used along the lower portion, and six feet of concrete were placed on top of the wall to give the mill more water power. The wall began to leak again in 1925 and continued to leak more each year until steps were taken to repair the leaks with the present method. Piers may be constructed in back of the wall. About a year ago the water supply became so low that a small coffer dam was erected near the railway bridge to turn the water, which had been used by the old Nielsen Pulp mill, into the canal. Men employed on the job are taken from the mill which is shut down to allow the work and also from the city. Workmen of C. R. Meyer company pour concrete on Sundays when there is no work being done on the bridge. When concrete is poured there are over 100 men employed. It will take several weeks to complete the work. The equipment used in the building of the Lawest bridge also is used.

BUILD RETAINING WALL ALONG SHORE OF RIVER

Kaukauna—Workmen of the north road district have been engaged for the past several days in building a small retaining wall along the shore of the Fox river in the Tourist park to prevent several trees from falling into the water. All of the ground about the trees on the water's edge had been washed away and the trees had begun to tilt towards the water. Several large trees were lost to the park in this manner. Last year ground will be dumped in the space between the wall and the shore. The work is being done under the direction of Thomas Reardon, street commissioner.

BEGIN WIDENING OF ROAD INTERSECTION

Kaukauna—Construction of a wide corner at the intersection of highways 53 and 41, and County trunk line J, near the north city limits, was begun Wednesday by workmen of the Ray McCarty Construction Co. While the corner is blocked off, traffic is detoured through the driveway of Andrews Oil Co. filling station at the intersection. All of the old concrete is being removed, and a small hill is being dug away with the aid of a steam shovel. Ground from the hill is being used to build up the shoulder of the road. Most of the cost is being borne by the county and state.

SULPHUR SPRING IS CLEANED, REPAIRED

Kaukauna—The sulphur spring was treated to a cleaning and repairing by workmen of the north road district Tuesday. A new cover was placed on the spring, and the sides of the old well were repaired. As some vandals had destroyed the old cover, and had thrown some rubbish into the well, signs warning of prosecution of persons damaging the spring will be put up. The well is a source of drinking water for nearby residents.

Eleven players entered the tournament, which is being held at the Ashe court on Grignon-st. This is the first city net tourney to be held here since the Kaukauna Tennis club disbanded.

The second round will be played Thursday, with Edward Ashe meeting Roland Beyer, and Leonard Macrorie playing Roy Wilpolt. William Ashe, Jr. will meet Francis Landreman on Friday. Landreman drew a bye in the first round. The finals will be played either Saturday or Sunday, according to A. J. Berens, head of the committee in charge.

Much interest is being shown in the tourney, although the game has not been played much here recently, as enough courts were not available. There are but three good courts in the city, the Ashe court on Grignon-st. and two courts in LaFollette park.

START REORGANIZING HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Kaukauna—The high school band has been reorganized under the direction of O. E. Thompson. The first rehearsal was held Wednesday evening. There are 28 pieces in the band, and several more are expected to report for practices.

ASK INFORMATION ON PLANTING OF LATE HAY CROPS

Sell Tells Farmers to Follow Plan to Suit Individual Need

Many inquiries are being received by Gus Sell, county agent, from farmers who want to know whether it is still too late to plant grass or hay crops at this time of the year. Mr. Sell points out that it is impossible to determine exactly the right course for farmers to follow now inasmuch as the summer was so dry. He points out that in ordinary years it would be too late to plant hay crops now, but this year, even if the crop had been planted a month ago it should have been made much progress due to the lack of rain.

It is possible, Mr. Sell said, that a crop of timothy, clover or alfalfa planted now might show a good early stand if a heavy rain follows. He said those farmers that are without any prospect of pasture for spring and if they have home-grown seed so the outlay needn't be too great, could try the plan as a last resort. He also pointed out that some farmers are planting rye crops now for pasture. A few farmers are mixing clover seed with the rye for a pasture when the rye is gone. He said rye could be sown for another week or so. A few farmers are planting rye with the intention of turning it under after it has been used as a pasture. Sudan grass will then be planted for a fall pasture. With any of these plans, Mr. Sell said, it would be necessary to plan some other type of pasture for June and July, 1932, because they would be used up by that time.

18 CORN BORERS HAVE BEEN FOUND IN STATE

Madison—A total of 18 corn borers have now been found in Wisconsin according to state entomologist, E. L. Chambers of the department of agriculture and markets.

A new infestation of 11 borers have just recently been discovered on the farm of Frank Schmidt in Centerville township, Sheboygan-co. The 11 borers were found in three stalks of corn and as a result, the entire field is being put into silos at once.

State and federal crews are now scouting the entire Lake Michigan shore area in search of the dread corn borer, and the new infestation was discovered by Harold Embalde, a state inspector.

The corn borer may have gained entrance to the state last year according to Mr. Chambers. Serious damage from the borer is not to be expected in the immediate future, the entomologist states, as every effort will be made to exterminate it before it can spread to other areas in Wisconsin.

State is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Fletcher.

Mrs. C. Jones and children of Loraine, Ohio are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paronto, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Haight.

SAM BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: When Sam Sherrill, lovely stepdaughter of the poor but aristocratic Fourth Al-dersea, refuses to marry Freddy Munson, he leaves her in a rage, saying he is going west. Sam loves Freddy, but needs money too much to marry him. Peak Abbott, wealthy young owner of the Express, for which Sam and Freddy work, also proposes to Sam. She is considering his suggestion that a businesslike marriage would benefit them both. The most pressing of her financial worries is settled when Aldersea provides the money for mortgage interest, which he has borrowed from Mrs. Frye, his best customer in his bookselling ventures. Aldersea passionately cares for social position. Sam keeps from him the knowledge that her half-brother, Nelson, is going out with their maid, Martha Givens. While Sam wonders whether Freddy is in Chicago, she sees a taxi in front of the stable where the family now lives, near the former mansion.

Sam sighed. "What would I give," she said, "if only I could!" Freddy talked. He talked swiftly, urgently, and with passionate earnestness. He was particularly convincing concerning the obligations of love.

Sam did not listen. She merely put her head on the rough tweed of his shoulder and wondered why she was so unreasonably happy.

Finally he seemed to sense her inattention. He stopped talking abruptly, and once more dipped back her chin. "Tell me something," he commanded gently, looking straight into her eyes. "Tell me that you'll marry me today."

Sam, returning his gaze, was conscious of a swift ebbing of her powers of resistance. "I can't, Freddy," she said hopelessly.

"Tell me," Freddy repeated his command calmly, never taking his eyes from hers. "Tell me that you'll marry me, Sam dear, today."

"No!" Her eyes filled with tears and her denials were almost piteous. "I can't."

They looked at each other for a long moment. Then, wearily, Sam surrendered. "What I meant to say, Freddy," she corrected herself in a small tired voice, "was yes. Yes, I will."

It was almost five o'clock when Sam returned to the stable for the last time. She had been furiously busy ever since Freddy had left for the city and there still remained a great many things to be done in the thirty minutes before she must leave for the train.

There were two notes to be written; one to Fourth and one to Peak Abbott. She must speak to Martha about the men's dinner.

In the midst of her swift dressing Sam had a moment of realization that she would not be in her own room again for a long time. She must not allow herself to think of Fourth, she decided, nor of Peak Abbott. In thirty short minutes she would be free. No more responsibilities.

She gave her close-fitting blue felt hat a final decisive pat and ran down the stairs to interview Martha.

Martha was not in the kitchen, nor did she answer when Sam called her name. Sam had called again, when she noticed an envelope bearing her name on the white kitchen table.

The note inside was not from Martha, but from Nelson Aldersea. "Dear Sam," Nelson had written in scrawling pencil. "I'm afraid this is going to be a shock to you, no matter how I put it, so I'll try to get it over as soon as possible. The fact is that Martha and I love each other and that we can't stand going on this way any longer. Consequently, by the time you read this letter, she and I will be married and that will be that."

"Now please don't take it too hard, and for heaven's sake try to square me with Fourth. I know he'll hit the ceiling, but he'll have to get over it the best way he can."

"Being absolutely broke I've had to borrow from what you had in your bureau drawer. I promise I'll send it back to you, every cent."

"Be good and try to forgive me. I'll write soon."

Sam read the letter three times, and then turned and went slowly up to her own room. She went to her drawer, where she found that only one of the fifty-dollar bills remained in the handkerchief case. She seated herself in a little chair beside the window.

For twenty minutes there was absolute silence in the stable. Sam did not move. At the end of that time she got to her feet, took off her traveling clothes, put on aingham house dress and went down to the kitchen.

She noticed that it was exactly six o'clock. The train for New York would just now be pulling out of the Broad Street Station.

How does Freddy take Sam's failure to appear at the train? In the next installment, Fourth faces the news about Nelson.

MEXICAN ENTRY INTO COURT IS U. S. PROBLEM

Biggest Factor in Pan-American Affairs Since U. S. Refused to Join

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1931, by Post Pub. Co., Washington, D. C.
Entry of Mexico into the league of nations is perhaps the most important and significant development in pan-American affairs since the United States failed to join the league.
One of the arguments made in the senate here was that the league did not give sufficient recognition to the interests of the United States in this hemisphere. As long however as the nearest neighbor, Mexico, declined to become a member and the relations of the United States and Mexico were unsettled, there was no practical conflict of interest between Geneva and Washington.
There is of course nothing on the horizon to indicate that a clash of policy may ever arise between the league and the United States over Mexican affairs, but nevertheless it is significant that Mexico has remained aloof this long and now accepts membership. Cuba is a member of the league, and so are most Latin-American countries. Every now and then there is a withdrawal from membership or an application for admission. But generally speaking the Latin American states have become persuaded that the league may in some circumstances be helpful to them, especially in the event that some future administration in Washington interprets the Monroe doctrine as bestowing by implication rights of interference which the original pronouncement never contemplated.
The authorities at Geneva have been very careful not to offend the United States in handling questions arising out of Latin-America. In one instance, the dispute between Paraguay and Bolivia, the intervention of the league came coincident with the good offices of the United States. In another instance, a health mission was sent by the league to Peru, which caused more or less dismay because this was regarded as the special responsibility of the United States.
The league covenant made it clear that the operations of the organization were in no way to interfere with "regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine." The late Senator Lodge argued that the language was ambiguous because there are no other understandings "like the Monroe doctrine." But it has never been doubted that "regional understandings" were outside the jurisdiction of the league, hence the entire structure of pan-American relations may be regarded as something which the league of nations does not in the slightest degree affect.
It is conceivable that the closer working arrangements between Latin American states and the league may some day be used as an argument for the entry of the United States into the Geneva organization.

States into the Geneva organization. This is because there are many questions which the United States might not wish to take up directly with any of the countries to the south, but on which it would like to be intimately informed. By sitting in the council of the league and the assembly, the United States would have a voice. Thus if some day a Latin-American country insisted that the league take up some question in which the United States claimed an interest, the veto power of a member of the council would be sufficient to bar such consideration. There is at this time, however, little chance that the United States will enter the league, especially when the world court protocol is still unrattified by the American government.

CHURCHMEN ASK HOOVER TO FIRE U. S. ATTORNEY

Oust Bancroft but Keep Cunningham, Methodist Conference Urges President

announced policy of the Administration and President Hoover.

With Personal Letters
In addition to the conference's telegram and letters to the Washington officials the conference asks its members and constituency to write personal letters to these same officials urging dismissal of Bancroft and retention of Cunningham.

Following is the telegram which is to be sent to President Hoover:

"Press reports indicate there is a likelihood that Deputy Prohibition Administrator W. Frank Cunningham is to be removed from the Eastern District of Wisconsin and that United States District Attorney Levi H. Bancroft is to be retained. Such steps could only be dictated by those bent on breaking down law enforcement. We urgently protest such action. Public interest demands that Mr. Cunningham be retained in this district and that Mr. Bancroft be removed. We are willing to cooperate with the Prohibition Enforcement Department in carrying out the announced policy of the administration."

Following are two letters, the first of which will go to Attorney General Mitchell and the second to Mr. Lucas:

Mitchell Letter

"If, as seems apparent from press reports, there is a likelihood that a misconceived party expediency shall dictate the retention of Levi H. Bancroft as United States District Attorney of the Eastern District of Wisconsin or the appointment of a man to succeed him, we, the members of the Methodist Conference in sympathy with the announced policy of President Hoover's Administration regarding law enforcement, such a course would serve neither public nor party interest and would be unjustifiable and unfortunate."

With full confidence that both you and President Hoover will, when rightly informed, take appropriate and courageous action.

Lucas Letter

"If, as has been reported in the press, National Republican Committee George Vits and his political associates have convinced you that party expediency demands the removal of Deputy Prohibition Administrator W. Frank Cunningham from Wisconsin and the retention of United States District Attorney, Levi H. Bancroft, in his very important post, these men speak without authority and misrepresent a very substantial portion, at least, of the Republican voters in Wisconsin. Public interest demand that the office be manned with a force fitted and willing to carry out the announced policy of the administration regarding law enforcement and the retention of Mr. Cunningham as Deputy Prohibition Administrator."

There was little discussion of the proposed removal, with the exception of that offered by H. H. Lucas, general minister, who had personal information that the retention of Mr. Cunningham was being considered by the enforcement efforts while Cunningham more than pleased them with his zeal.

Some objection was made by a scattering group of ministers to the proposed letter to be sent to Mr. Lucas on the grounds that it tended to cast up the Republican party. They said they felt this should be purely a non-partisan objection and urged the killing of the Lucas letter. Their movement was overwhelmingly defeated. However, the conference agreed to strike three words out of the first sentence of the second paragraph of this letter. The sentence originally read in part:

"Both party and public policy demands—"

It was amended to read:

"Public policy demands—"

In support of its memorial the Kansas church committee presented the following arguments:

"Items in the Milwaukee newspapers recently published present a vital public issue, clean-cut and unequivocal. It is said there is friction between United States District Attorney Levi H. Bancroft and W. Frank Cunningham, Deputy Prohibition Administrator; that this friction has continued so long and so obstructs the transaction of public business in which both are engaged as public officers that one or the other must be dismissed from the service; and that representatives of President Hoover have been engaged with leading Republicans of Wisconsin and he has been advised by them that Cunningham should go and Bancroft should be retained."

"To anyone at all informed on the subject it is wholly unnecessary to explain that in the business of law enforcement in which both are engaged, Cunningham has been consistently as zealous as Bancroft has been lukewarm when not actively hostile, that Cunningham has been diligent as Bancroft's settled opposition and obstruction."

"In this situation there is no room for straddling, time-serving or equivocation. If one of these men is right, the other one clearly is wrong. It is therefore not a case where the dismissal of both will serve any useful purpose. One is either for law enforcement or is against it. If one is for law enforcement he must be in this controversy supporting Cunningham and opposing Bancroft. But if the news articles are the public press are to be believed, the advisors of President Hoover in Wisconsin are opposed to law enforcement and those who represent such policy in Wisconsin speak for the people of this state? Do they represent the sentiments of the Republicans of Wisconsin?"

NOTE INCREASE IN DEMAND FOR HOGS

Smaller Runs at Larger Markets Aid Sellers in Fight for Price Advance

Chicago —(AP)—Demand for good hogs was undiminished in the early market today and buyers continued the activities begun late Wednesday. Somewhat smaller runs at all the larger markets aided sellers in their fight to advance prices. Bids at the start of trade were strong to 10c higher than the average of Wednesday. Best medium weight butchers were held at $6.50, but nearly all above $6.50 were found. Light hogs were selling at $7.00 to $7.25. Chicago's run of 17,000 heads of hogs was smaller by 2,500 than last Thursday and the twelve principal markets received only 62,800 head today, compared to 80,400 a week ago, and 65,100 a year ago. The local run of 73,800 for the week to date is also smaller by 10,000 than for last week. Lamb markets throughout the country were flooded with arrivals today, and $4.20 were reported from the 12 largest markets, as against $7.40 a week ago and $6.30 for the same date a year ago. Local pens bore the brunt of the lead, having to care for 30,000 or more than a third of the entire week's market. Packers to be accounted for 4,100 of these by their direct receipts.

WHEAT SCORES BRISK ADVANCE ON GRAIN MART

Bulls Handicapped by Report That Soviet Shipments Are Greater

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago —(AP)—Wheat scored a brisk late advance here today owing largely to a jump of more than 4 cents a bushel in the September delivery at Minneapolis. Dispatches from Minneapolis said the rise was attributed to buying there for previous speculative sellers. Purchases for Minneapolis mills were also noted, with Minneapolis top quotations on wheat up more than 8 cents within a week.

A handicap to wheat bulls was announcement that Russian shipments totaled 6,056,000 bushels for the week. Another weight on the market was the Canadian government report showing a larger yield than expected. On the other hand, signs pointed to a fair amount of export business in North American wheat overnight, although stocks of wheat in Great Britain were reported nearly double those of a year ago.

Wheat price declines which followed early upturns were simultaneous with sharp setbacks in securities. Corn sagged with wheat and as a result of talk that the principal Chicago holder of corn was continuing to sell for September delivery. Arrivals of corn in Chicago, however, remained scanty, today's receipts amounting to but 53 cars compared with 161 at this time last year. Oats were relatively firm.

Provisions reflected an upward slant of hog values.

NAVY ARSENAL MAKES OASIS OF DESERT TRACT

Spend $3,500,000 for Munitions Storage Depot on Huge Tract of Land

Hawthorne, Nev. — (AP) — Uncle Sam's navy has replaced sand dunes and sagebrush with explosives and pine trees in an isolated area of Nevada's extensive desert. Excluding Hawthorne, population about 600, there is no nearby settlement.

Expending $3,500,000 for a munitions storage depot on a 211 square mile piece of land near the treeless shore of Walker lake, the navy department landscaped the ground with thousands of shrubs and trees. The Hawthorne depot replaces the Lake Denmark, N. J., arsenal, destroyed with loss of life in 1926. It will supply munitions to the Pacific fleet, being equivalent to the San Diego and Puget Sound naval bases and 200 miles east of San Francisco bay. By fall its 84 magazines will hold 12,000,000 pounds of high explosives.

Are Far Apart
The residential quarter and groups of igloo-like magazines are built several miles apart. The munitions storehouses are built in 12 groups of seven magazines each. The main groups are separated by 2,000 feet, and the individual magazines are 500 feet apart.

They are built of reinforced concrete with dirt piled high about them. Naval officials say the explosion of one mound will not cause sympathetic detonations.

The industrial and residential section of the depot has 245 buildings of reinforced concrete and brick.

Quartered there are six commissioned officers, a detachment of marines, navy gunners, hospital attaches and civilian employees.

The lake beach has been provided with a bath house, and there are provisions for golf, tennis, baseball and aviation.

MADE FROM CABBAGE?
Denver — What is a cabbage exchange? Members of the city voo squad wondered when they saw the sign on a house. They soon found out that it was a blind and had nothing to do with cabbage. It was found to be a liquor cache in which were stored three and one-half pints of sheba.

SHEBA'S DESCENDANT
London—Princess Asia Vilma, a cousin of the Emperor of Abyssinia, recently took part as the Queen of Sheba in the Fashion Beauties Ball. And well she might, for the princess is said to be a direct descendant of the Queen of Sheba. The queen, the princess informs, was not black, as supposed, but had a dark olive complexion.

Ina Claire, John Gilbert Friends Despite Divorce

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)—Now that Hollywood has grown accustomed to the Ina Claire—John Gilbert divorce, Miss Claire and Mr. Gilbert are being seen everywhere together. Rumor, which had coupled the name of each with the name of any number of other people, has been obliged to switch around and couple the Claire—Gilbert names again.

It is no secret that Miss Claire and Mr. Gilbert are still very fond of each other. Absence seems to have made the heart grow fonder, too, and in spite of the fact that Mr. Gilbert accused his wife before the divorce of being "intellectual," a charge which by the way she has denied, he now appears to derive a lot of pleasure from talking with her.

Fannie Holtmann, the attorney who came all the way from New York to free Miss Claire from the Gilbert name, gave a dinner party the other evening to which Miss Claire was invited. The New York attorney got the surprise of her life when Miss Claire arrived bringing the ex-husband as escort.

"Well!" remarked Miss Holtmann, "how do I address you? As Miss Claire or Mrs. Gilbert?"

Miss Claire and Mr. Gilbert both laughed heartily. But in response to the inevitable queries about a remarriage, each said nothing that

WISCONSIN DOCTOR TO INSTALL HEALTH PROGRAM IN ALASKA

Badger Medic, Given Appointment, to Initiate New System

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — Dr. Frank Samuelson, Fellow of the Wisconsin Medical Society, has been appointed the first district medical director for Alaska and will initiate a new program of health work among natives throughout the entire territory.

Much of Dr. Samuelson's time in his new job will be spent in traveling by sled, airplane and boat over the 586,400 square miles of Alaska. Serving this vast territory the government has had in the past only six hospitals, ten physicians, and thirty-four nurses.

Along the thousands of miles of the Yukon river, a medical boat furnishes the only means of securing medical care and dental relief.

During the summer months, when the melting of the ice permits, this boat cruises along the river as far as the Yukon Delta with a physician, two nurses, and a dentist on board. They distribute a supply of medicine for use in the winter months with instructions how to use it, extend first aid, advise mothers on the care and feeding of their children, performing such operations as the boat's facilities permit, and transporting a limited number of patients to hospitals at Tanana and Fairbanks.

Dr. Samuelson will leave his present post at Portland, Ore., where he could shed any light on what the film colony considers at least a probability. Miss Claire and Mr. Gilbert have been divorced about a month, which is quite a long time out here.

STUDENT HAS PLAN TO STOP EXECUTION OF INNOCENT PERSONS

Madison — (AP)—Some casual student of penology has a plan for capital punishment for Wisconsin which would prevent the execution of innocent men. Col. John J. Hannan, president of the board of control, received the suggestion by mail. The writer suggested that persons convicted of a crime punishable by death should be retained in prison for 20 years. If no evidence has been found to prove him innocent at the end of 20 years, he would be executed.

Col. Hannan, rather skeptical of the plan, had no comment to offer.

SENTENCE TO SUNDAY SCHOOL AIDS YOUTHS

Houston — If some judges, in passing on youthful criminals, would use the wisdom of Judge Fred Turner, there would be fewer second offenders.

Four youths recently faced him on a charge of stealing gasoline from an automobile. Two of the boys were 16 and the others 17. The gasoline they stole came from the car of A. H. Henderson, a Sunday school teacher.

On the plea of the mother of one of the youths, the judge dismissed the case after exacting a promise from the mothers of the boys to see that they attended the Sunday school of Henderson every week. The boys accepted the "sentence."

"Here are my reasons for preferring Rinso, the hard-water soap: It's richer, more economical, safer. It washes clothes whiter—colored clothes brighter. Rinso suds are so creamy and full of life. I never use a water softener any more. Rinso loosens dirt like magic! Marvelous for dishwashing, too."
